Planning Board To Establish Map To End Confusion

New Road Is Requested for Converse Street, Also Adequate Lighting

Kingston's newly created planning board took its first step toward establishing an "official map" at its organization meeting yesterday.

Lawrence J. MacAvery, chairman, appointed Corporation Counsel James G. Connolly as secretary to the board.

City Engineer Arthur J. Lellman was authorized to study the duplication of street names which cause confusion in the city, such as Park Place and Park street, and it will be his job to prepare the map which will be adopted as the "official map".

The board also received its first request to come from Austin R. Sweetsir & Co. requesting the building of a new road over Converse street and that it be adequately lighted from North Front street to the parking grounds back of Montgomery Ward & Co.

The board announced that all such suggestions are welcomed and will be studied.

It was suggested also that the planning group and the zoning board meet in the near future to consider zoning problems.

Members of the board made a verbal review of the city to arrive at an overall general picture

Fears Destruction

Mrs. Roosevelt Says U. S. Must Learn to Live With Russians

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says if Americans fail to get along with the Russians it could mean the destruction of civilization.

Speaking to Harvard and Radcliffe students last night, Mrs. Roosevelt said:

"Americans have to learn to live in the same world with the Russians whether we agree with them or not. If we don't it could mean the destruction of civilization."

She said it is "up to plain citizens to put pressure on the government and see to it that we do."

One way for nations with conflicting views to get along together is to agree on a definition of fundamental human rights, she added.

That, she said, is the job of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights.

Aged Man Burned Aiding 2 Children

Frame Residence Is Razed Near Phoenicia; Oil Was Overheated

Michael Ferguson, 74, of Mt Pleasant suffered second degree burns Wednesday while assisting two children from the burning residence of Manning Wamsley near the Mt Pleasant railroad station. Ferguson was taken to Phoenicia by Trooper Ray Dunn and treated by Dr. Charles A. Quinn.

The two-story frame residence of Wamsley was completely destroyed by fire which started when Wamsley and his brother, William Wamsley, attempted to heat a can of kerosene on the stove to wash down heavy oil in their car which failed to start due to the eight below zero temperature. Trooper Dunn said the oil had apparently become overheated and burst into flames.

The house was occupied by Manning Wamsley, his brother William and his wife and two children and Ferguson.

Flames spread so rapidly that the Phoenicia fire department was unable to bring it under control when it arrived on the scene. Fire spread rapidly through the house and Mr. Ferguson was burned while assisting the two children from the house.

Wamsley is in the ash and garbage collection business in the area and Trooper Dunn said a large quantity of paper and rags, saved from collections for sale, added to the fire. Smoke from the fire floated high into the air and calls were received by Trooper Dunn from points as distant as Arena in Delaware county, and Margaretville inquiring as to the cause of the smoke. One caller from Margaretville observed such columns of smoke that it was reported a plane had crashed and burned.

Several Flights Made Over City by Novel Craft From Local Plant Area

Benjamin N. Ashton, president of Electrol Incorporated, 85 Grand street, this city, was initiated into the rites of helicopter flying Wednesday when John Mason and Pilot L. C. Morris visited the aircraft hydraulics plant.

The 'copter appeared over the plant at noon and was set down in the small, enclosed yard immediately before the entrance to the plant's executive offices.

Ashton was taken for a short spin by Morris within a few moments after the craft set down and was flown northerly to his residence in Sunset Park, where a vertical landing was made in a tiny garden plot. Thereafter Morris flew Ashton over the Kingston-Ulster Airport, out over the Hudson river, thence back to Electrol.

House Votes 130 Million Rates Hike

Republican Attempt Is Defeated; Desired Further Study by Committee

Debate Is Heated

Opponents Shout 'Gag' Is Imposed by Democrats

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP) — The House voted today for hikes in postal rates expected to bring the Postoffice Department $130,000,000 more a year.

A voice vote passed the bill and sent it to the Senate.

Before the final vote, a Republican motion to send the bill back to committee for further study was beaten, 217 to 150.

The bill would raise the rate for post and postal cards from one to two cents, but would leave the first class letter rate at the present three cents.

Other main changes are higher rates on commercial publications, on bulk printed matter, and on parcel post.

None of them can go into effect unless the Senate approves them.

The $130,000,000 rise is less than half the amount President Truman has asked for higher postal rates. He asked Congress to hike the rates about $350,000,000 to help offset a postal operating deficit of more than $500,000,000 a year.

House debate was heated but brief for such an important bill. Opponents shouted that they were being "gagged" and said the bill wasn't getting proper consideration.

The bill's foes stressed the argument that the raises proposed would fall heaviest on small newspapers and periodicals and would work to the detriment of rural dwellers. The big city dailies, they claimed, would not suffer because they make but small use of the mails for circulation purposes.

Backers argued that the bill would not hurt little publications

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Olive Blake, who lived on the third floor. She called firemen when she smelled smoke early today.

The dead were Norbert Heppelee, 28, his wife, Margaret, 24, and their three children, Henry,

Government Issues Primer in Problem Of Atomic Blasts

State Commission Will Be Asked to Survey Sites Immediately

Dispersal of War Plants Is Suggested; May Bury Important Factories

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—The federal government today handed the nation a grim primer in construction problems of the atomic age.

It issued a report entitled "Damage From Atomic Explosion and Design of Protective Structures," dealing in matter-of-fact language with requirements for buildings which might have to undergo the tremendous force of a nearby A-bomb blast.

The best advice it could offer builders was to erect important structures as far from strategic areas as possible, or put them underground.

It called for dispersal of potential war plants, and said the most vital industries might have to bury themselves deep in caves and mines.

The report was prepared by the National Security Resources Board, for use by civil depense planners across the nation. It will be distributed by the N.S.R.B. to the governors of all the states.

The report's findings are based on studies made largely in Hiroshima, the first city ever to feel the terrible effect of an atomic explosion. It included no reference to later, more powerful A-bombs, nor did it mention the fearful hydrogen bomb now being developed.

Surveys made in Japan, it said, showed that heavily framed steel and reinforced concrete buildings offered the greatest resistance to atomic blast. Those which offered the weakest showing were shed-type structure with light frames and long, unsupported beams.

As for housing, the report says well-constructed frame buildings stand up well against blast, but are vulnerable to fire.

It cautioned builders against all-brick walls that support floor beams and roofs. Such structures in Japan, the report said, "were engulfed by the oncoming pressure wave and collapsed completely."

Atomic and defense experts who compiled the report made their recommendations on the "assumption" that damage within one-half mile of the point immediately below an aerial explosion would be "so severe as to make protection of above ground facilities impractical within that area."

A bomb with twice the destructive force of the Hiroshima weapon would increase this area of virtually complete destruction about 60 per cent, the report said.

But outside this area, "a great deal can be done to minimize the damage" from air blast, earth shock, atomic rays and heat.

While "a great deal remains to be done before satisfactory de-

The Kingston Housing Authority yesterday took a definite step in renewing effort to obtain a local housing project by deciding to invite State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman, or his representative, to inspect sites under consideration.

Several sites "reviewed and visited," the authority said, include one in the Sixth Ward.

The authority said it wanted to dispel rumors to the effect that definite plans had been made, and reiterated that "no specific requests have been made for approval of a site or for allocation of an appropriation."

The visit of Stichman or his representative, it was suggested, should be made "as soon as possible."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly attended the meeting with members of the authority: Arthur A. Davis, Jr., chairman; George E. Yerry, Jr., secretary; John DeGasperis, Max Mones and George Chilson.

Po'keepsie Plans Protest Parade as Local Bridge Blast

'Big Stunt' Will Feature Bicycle for Two; Pomeroy, Woman Will Pedal

Poughkeepsie is currently preparing to "parade" its protest "against use of the local bridge's tolls to finance construction of a new Kingston bridge," the Poughkeepsie New Yorker said yesterday.

The stunt parade, planned to emphasize the bridge city's protest, will feature a tandem bicycle ride with Mrs. Virginia Nisonger, vice-chairman of the Dutchess county Democratic committee, and Assemblyman Robert W. Pomeroy, sharing the seats.

Date of the parade was not announced.

Mrs. Nisonger, as toastmaster of a Jan. 18 session of the Dutchess County Realty Board, announced she would make the bicycle ride with the assemblyman across the Mid-Hudson bridge, and plans are currently under discussion to make a parade of the occasion.

Automobile dealers, said the newspaper, are now offering ancient models of cars to join the parade, and there may be a high-wheeled bicycle behind the tandem riders.

Assemblyman Pomeroy, said the article, promptly accepted Mrs. Nisonger's invitation to ride, and said "he would even pay the toll—provided it wasn't used to help build a bridge at Kingston."

Canadians to Rescue

Whitehouse, Y. T., Feb. 9 (AP)—A six-man Canadian Army rescue team planned a trip up a treeless Yukon mountain today to rescue 10 occupants of a crashed C-47 search plane. The Canadians spent the night beside two snow weasels several thousand feet below the stranded crash victims. Three of the five U. S. Air Force men aboard the plane suffered leg and arm fractures when the C-47 crashed Tuesday during its search for a C-54 which vanished January 26 with 44 persons aboard. None of the five Canadian soldiers aboard was injured. Another American search plane spotted the C-47 yesterday on the snow-covered mountainside 84 miles northwest of here.

Bag Contained $37,150 in Bills; Police Give No Link to Brink Robbery

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP) — Police grilled four men and a woman today on their possession of a paper bag containing $37,150 in cash.

Whether there was any evidence linking the five with the $1,500,000 Brink's Inc. robbery in Boston, however, police refused to say.

The five, arrested in a parked car here early yesterday, insisted the money represented gambling proceeds.

Beyond that they weren't talking, said Police Inspector Walter Wyrod.

Roads Hazardous

Motor traffic came to an abrupt halt on all highways leading into Boston. Tieups as much as a mile and a half long were noted. In the western part of the state a light fall of freezing snow made driving extremely hazardous. In Maine, the temperature which had been below zero for six days, began to rise as snow fell.

Bills Proposed in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb 9 (AP)—Legislation intended to reduce the number of deaths in professional boxing has been proposed by two Manhattan Democrats

A boxer who had been knocked out would be prohibited from fighting again for three months

Senator Alfred E Santangelo and Assemblyman Louis A Cioffi introduced the measure yesterday. They said:

"There have been too many deaths within the ring in the last several years because of improper supervision of these fighters who had been knocked out and permitted to engage in subsequent bouts before they had gotten over the effects of their previous knockout

The same bill was introduced by Santangelo and Cioffi last year It died in committee

A Republican legislator today introduced two bills aimed at what he called "slick salesmen and phoney poll takers"

Senator Thomas C Desmond, of Newburgh said his bills would make it a misdemeanor for merchandisers to represent falsely themselves or their wares, or for any persons to pose as pollsters or census takers

Violators would be liable to a year imprisonment, a fine ranging from $25 to $500, or both

Desmond said his bills would "help bar the doors to the unscrupulous who prey upon the unsuspecting and open those doors wider to legitimate salesmen and other agents."

Cities and counties would get a slice of the pari-mutuel betting on harness races, under three bills introduced in the legislature.

Harness track wagering now is taxable only by the state.

Senator William F Condon submitted yesterday a bill to permit any city to impose a three per cent tax on the betting handle at a harness meeting conducted within city limits.

The measure by the Yonkers Republican was requested by the Yonkers city council The Yonkers Trotting Association will conduct 62 days of racing in three meets this year at the 45-year-old Empire City track, which has been renamed the Yonkers Raceway.

Assemblyman John E. Johnson, Genesee county Republican, introduced the other bills

Under one, the Genesee county supervisors would be permitted to impose a maximum five per cent tax on betting at the Batavia Downs track. The Genesee-Monroe Racing Association will conduct a meeting there from July 31 to Oct. 14.

His other measure would permit all counties to impose a one per cent tax on pari-mutuel betting at harness meetings in the counties.

A $100,000,000 state bond issue to finance maximum 50-year loans for middle-income housing projects was proposed today by the Legislature's Democratic minority

The Democrats want the Republican-controlled Legislature to approve the bond issue and submit it to the voters for their decision next November 7

Companion bills implementing the program will be introduced by Senator James J. Crawford and Assemblyman Leonard Farbstein of New York city.

The legislation would broaden the powers of the state housing commissioner to authorize loans for middle-income rental housing under a new "Non-Profit Housing Corporation" statute

Decree Is Issued To Prevent Ties Of Theatres, Sellers

New York, Feb 9 (AP)—A 12-year-old anti-trust suit has resulted in a Federal Court final decree ordering major film companies to divorce their theatres from movie-distribution operations.

The first were given three years to comply with the order, which also prohibits distributors from trying to fix theatre admission prices

The order, handed down yesterday, said plans for the separation of theatres and distribution facilities must be submitted within one year

The Justice Department was authorized to look into the companies' books at any time to make sure they comply with the decree.

Distributors named in the order were Loew's Inc. (M.G.M.), Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., Warner Brothers Pictures Distributing Corp, and 20th Century Fox Films Corporation.

Exhibitors named were Loew's, Warner Brothers Pictures, 20th Century and Warner Brothers Circuit Management Corp., and the National Theatres Corp.

Not affected by the new order were R K O. Corp, and Paramount Pictures These two already had agreed to separate their theatre and distribution interests.

Columbia Pictures Corp, Universal Pictures Co, Inc, and United Artists Corp—all distributors only—were directed to adhere to a court-outlined code of conduct These firms own no theatres

The order, handed down in a suit brought in 1938 against the companies on civil anti-trust charges, directed that no film distributor may show movies, exhibitor may distribute films, except with specific court permission.

Distributors were ordered not to fix minimum admission prices, not to fix a time lag between showings of movies in various areas, and not to force an exhibitor to contract for several movies so he can get one he wants.

Exhibitors were forbidden to pool competitive theatres into a non-competitive unit, or to deal with any agent acting for another distributor.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 9, 1950

THE HOOVER REPORT

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming in a recent talk at the annual dinner of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce urged the citizens of the country to exercise a strong public opinion back of the Hoover Commission recommendations in order that the proposals be followed by Congress and those in charge of fashioning our government. Dr. Flemming, who was a member of the commission to study the organization of the executive branch of the federal government, stated that between 20 and 25 per cent of the recommendations had been adopted, at least in part, and he urged that an aroused public support a movement which will compel other recommendations to be put in effect.

Throughout the country there is evidence of enthusiastic support for this move for economy and efficiency. In New York State there has been formed a State Citizens Committe for the Hoover Report.

The report points the way for reforms and modifications in government operations which will continue all services and benefits to the public, but with a more responsive and responsible government and with greater internal coordination and harmony at lower operating costs.

Jerome D. Barnum, chairman of the New York State Committee, in urging town officials to write their representatives and senators to support the major legislation embodying the commission's recommendations cited the necessity for such action by listing some of the staggering costs of government and instances of waste and inefficiency.

The government has 1,816 separate agencies and bureaus occupying 48,865 separate offices whose combined area is equal in size to 170 structures like the Empire State Building in New York City," he said.

It has a debt of 252 billion dollars that is equal to an obligation of $1,722 for every person, and $7,000 for every family, in this nation. The interest on this debt alone amounts to more than five billion dollars, which is more than the entire cost of federal government in 1934.

"Five billion in 1934 . . . 42 billion and maybe more in 1950 . . . unless you and your neighbors kind of buzz your duly elected congressional representatives.

"Everytime you buy and mail a one cent post card it costs Uncle Sam two and a half cents. The average fee for mail orders is 11.18 cents, but it costs 22.76 cents to process that money order.

"The fleet of 10,000 motor vehicles used by the Post Office Department costs 20 per cent more to operate than it costs to operate large scale private motor truck fleets, due to repair bills on autos business would discard for economy.

CROSS-SECTION OF AMERICA

The Boy Scouts of America is observing its 40th anniversary. Although it began with a small membership in 1910 it caught on rapidly. By 1916 Boy Scouts had rolled up so creditable a record of service to their communities that the Congress of the United States granted the Boy Scouts of American a Federal Charter.

The record shows that the current active membership is two and a half million boys and leaders. During the organization's forty years, more than sixteen million, five hundred thousand have been influenced by the Scout Oath and Law. As a matter of fact, nearly twenty per cent of the male population of America today has been identified with the Boy Scouts of America.

The purpose of Scouting, reads the Federal Charter, "shall be to promote, through organization and cooperation with other agencies, the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance, and kindred virtues."

Today, the Boy Scout, virtually a cross-section of American life, are at the midpoint of a two-year crusade to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" by bringing a better Scouting program to more boys under better trained leaders. This worthy effort will have its climax in a great National Jamboree this summer which will fittingly be held on historic ground—Valley Forge, Pa., where George Washington and his heroic Continental Army helped to lay the foundation for our Republic. It will be a gathering of the youth who will be among the nation's top leaders a few decades hence.

To the Boy Scouts of America on their fortieth anniversary, we say: "Happy Birthday!"

Of all the people who say, "I wish we had one of the good old-fashioned winters", how many would really enjoy one if they had it?

The world may be dazzled by our rapid pace, but it is nice to know there is always a place for good manners.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

MORE OF EUTHANASIA

A reader writes me:

"You are so ill informed on the subject that you had better do some investigating on what goes on every minute of the day in every hospital in our land. . . ."

The implication in this letter is that many more doctors than we know kill their patients and that many hospitals are charnel houses. That is difficult to believe and were it so, many persons would be justified in rejecting medical services and in refusing to go to hospitals. Surely, the medical profession will take steps, in its own interest, to protect itself against such slander.

I omit giving this particular reader's name because his letter, which comes from San Francisco, is an unbelievable defense of euthanasia. The writer apparently believes in murder, if in the opinion of the murderer it is done for a good purpose. "Mercy killing" may be regarded as a good purpose by those who perpetrate it, but it is taking life just the same and that, without due process.

It leaves to the individual a judgment over another's life which no individual should have. Even in our system of jurisprudence, the jury system provides that 12 persons should decide, and that by unanimous decision. Even the life of a murderer is sacred in our civilization and is taken by the state only with precautions and safeguards.

Once murder becomes tolerable for any reason, it may become tolerable for all reasons. Already there are those who would sterilize the unfit; yet was Beethoven's father fit? Who is to decide fitness? Shall it be a psychologist like Professor George P. Murdock of Yale who apparently believes that chastity is foul and celibacy degenerate? When man arrogates too much to his own judgments, the safeguards for the individual that rise from moral law wither and civilization dies.

One reason I do not give my reader's name is that obviously he is distraught over a case of cancer in his own family. And that could happen to any of us. And none of us is so wise or so restrained not to say, in a moment of distress, things that we would not even think about objectively.

Yet, cancer in its early stages is curable and the various cancer societies have issued abundant literature to inform the public about the progress that has been made to meet this dread illness. Every year, new and important advances are being made.

It is only natural that the sufferer should not be so keen about what is being done generally, but should cry out for a surcease to pain—his pain. And it is understandable that when a beloved one suffers, the family is grieved and is tortured mentally as well as physically. As sympathetic as one must be to suffering, it is impossible to give to individuals, associated with any profession, the right to murder at will, to kill according to private judgment.

Euthanasia attracts good people to its cause because they seek to relieve pain and misery, but these very same good people would be shocked if it were discovered that abortionists enlarged their business to mercy killing.

The real difficulty about human beings is that it is always dangerous to let the moral barriers down at all. They seem always to fall down altogether.

For instance, that is what is so wrong with Professor Murdock's thinking. He has reached the Freudian conclusion that sex is important but that marriage is slow of attainment. Therefore, as I read the report of his address before the American Social Hygiene Association, he would abolish chastity altogether. He does not say that he would make it a crime to be chaste, but he does support premarital sexual relations. I saw nothing in the newspaper reports of his speech as to how he would handle the babies born of unwed mothers or of the fierce involvements of unwed fathers. The world is witnessing that spectacle in the publicized ordeal of Ingrid Bergman.

Professors often evolve plans that flout thousands of years of human experience. So Professor Murdock would take marriage out of morality, as my correspondent would take murder out of morality, as Dean Acheson would take perjury out of morality.

It's getting to be a queer world.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DRUGS TO REDUCE APPETITE

While the ideal method of reducing weight in healthy individuals is to increase exercise or physical work, there is always the fact that exercise increases the appetite. More food is needed to give energy for the exercise and to build up the cells of the body worn or used up by the exercise. But the extra food is seldom used up entirely and this little extra food is stored in the body as fat.

However, if exercise is taken and no extra food eaten, then all the food eaten builds up muscle tissue and uses up some of the fat in and on the body.

What can be done for the individual who does not, cannot, or will not take exercise, yet because he is hungry all the time, eats too much?

It is for these individuals that physicians sometimes, to prevent the danger of overweight, prescribe the drug amphetamine or Benzedrine Sulfate. Another drug with similar action in decreasing appetite for food is called dexedrine.

In "The Western Journal of Surgery," Dr. S. Charles Freed (San Francisco), states that dexedrine and Benzedrine are about equally effective in curbing the appetite to reduce weight. With dexedrine there are fewer such reactions as nervousness, nausea, headache, palpitation of the heart and dry mouth. Both drugs cause constipation.

In making a choice between dexedrine and Benzedrine, Dr. Freed states that Benzedrine is less suited to persons with a more nervous and sensitive nature, who are very responsive to drugs. Individuals less nervous and sensitive do better with Benzedrine Sulfate. If a person is cutting down on food intake, taking regular exercise, and getting no weight loss, he is justified in asking his physician about the use of one or the other of these drugs to curb their appetite.

Mao, He's Makin' Eyes at Me . . .

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington. — Quotes from a speech by Senator McMahon of Connecticut: "Building the hydrogen bomb does not promise security for the United States. It only promises averting for a few months or years well-nigh certain catastrophe. . . . Our diplomacy must tap the roots of our imagination and ingenuity. . . . We may choose between moving heaven and earth to stop the atomic armaments race. . . . Or imitating our totalitarian rivals. We must blame ourselves for failing to bring our message of peace to the people behind the Iron Curtain. . . . We must not only crack the Iron Curtain and gain the ear of the Russian people," we must also gain the ear of the people on the near side of the Iron Curtain. . . . We spend $29,000,000 a year on what we call the Voice of America, though it should be called the Whisper of America. Yet we spend over $30,000,000 a year to advertise cosmetics. . . . Listlessness and mediocrity have characterized our attempts to sell what America is, what America wants and what America intends. . . . I favor printing millions of leaflets for a world-wide circulation explaining a new United States proposal on atomic peace. . . . We should publicly and repeatedly challenge the Kremlin to make public the terms of our proposal to newspaper readers and radio listeners inside Russia. . . . This is a time for soul-searching, for launching a moral crusade for peace which alone can save us." (Date of McMahon's speech, Feb. 2, 1950.)

Quotes from this column—July and August, 1948—"When one nation is in trouble with another nation, wise leaders concentrate on the weakest point in the other nation's armor. The weakest point in Russia's armor is her own people. . . . We must go over the Kremlin's head to the Russian people in order to convince them that the United States is composed of people who do not want war. . . . During the war we spent millions of dollars dropping leaflets, cakes of soap, packages of tea over nations. It shortened the war and saved lives. How many more lives could be saved by preventing war in the first place by going over the heads of the Kremlin and getting to the Russian people!

Balloons to Russia

"Let American planes over Germany drop weather balloons which the wind currents would float over Russia carrying friendship messages. Imagine the difficulty the Kremlin would have in explaining away these balloons! . . . During the war, the Japanese took advantage of weather currents to float balloons all the way across the Pacific carrying explosives. They were balloons of death. We can reverse the process with balloons of friendship.

"F. W. Danner of Akron, Ohio, has offered to print 1,000,000 copies of a message to the Russian people without charge. Percy Smith of Los Angeles writes that he would be glad to supply bars of soap imprinted with a message. The Eagle Rubber Company of Ashland, Ohio, International Latex of Dover, Del., and the Dewey-Almy Company of Cambridge, Mass., have offered to supply 100,000 balloons free. The Ingersoll Watch Company has offered to contribute Mickey Mouse wrist watches—over which the Russian people go crazy . . . these are just a few of the patriotic Americans who want to help their country prevent war.

"One of the surest ways to prevent war is to show the Russian people that we, the American people, aren't what the 14 men in the Kremlin say we are. As long as the Kremlin knows that 180,000,000 Russians will unflinchingly obey the order to march—without congressional debate, without criticism, and without knowing anything about the issues—then war can always be just around the corner." (Date of columns, July 21 through Aug. 18, 1948.)

General Bradley Enthused

Official Reaction—Simultaneous with writing the above columns, this writer called on the branches of the three military services and the State Department. Here is what they said:

Gen. Omar Bradley, chief of staff, was the most enthusiastic. He said: "If we can get to the Russian people, I can go fishing." He promised full cooperation—if the State Department approved.

Secretary of Air Stuart Symington was equally enthusiastic, promised full cooperation with B-29s if the State Department gave an O.K.

Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Denfeld was mildly interested.

The State Department—was not interested. Assistant Secretary George Allen, in charge of the Voice of America and of propaganda activities, feared that friendship messages to the Russian people would be misinterpreted. Our most successful policy with Russia, he indicated, was the diplomatic straight-arm, a warning that if the Soviet overstepped a certain line she risked war. Friendship messages to the Russian people might undercut that policy.

Later, I called on George Marshall, then secretary of state, discussed the problem of getting to the Russian people. I suggested that he or President Truman address a radio appeal to Stalin that the Iron Curtain be lifted, permitting friendship between the Russian and the American people. While that appeal would be rebuffed, I pointed out that millions of copies of the speech could be printed in the Russian, Czech, Polish, Bulgarian and other Iron Curtain languages to be circulated in those countries, and undermine the belligerent propaganda of the Moscow radio.

General Marshall Is Dissuaded

Secretary Marshall agreed, said he was considering an appeal somewhat along these lines when the United Nations opened in New York that fall.

But the appeal was never made. Possibly the conventional diplomats got hold of Marshall, persuaded him to stick to the ruts of routine diplomacy.

That was in the late summer of 1948. Since then President Truman has announced that Russia has the secret of the atom bomb, the F.B.I. has made it known that Russia has had access to the secrets of the hydrogen bomb, and the need for revolutionary diplomacy is all the more urgent.

But—when President Truman announced that he was giving the green light to the hydrogen bomb, he missed one of the propaganda opportunities of a lifetime. He could have gone on the air with a shortwave broadcast to the people of the entire world, appealing for peace, and had millions of copies of that appeal printed in a score of languages.

Instead he issued an abrupt, almost peremptory announcement, stating in stiff, official language that the United States had decided to build the hydrogen bomb. In brief, he passed on to the Kremlin a golden opportunity to call us militaristic and to appeal to the world for peace.

Exhaustion of Diplomacy Is Seen in News About U. S. and Russia

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 9—The grim news that the United States government sees no hope of making any useful agreements with the present government of Soviet Russia in the near future confronts the world with the startling fact that diplomacy has exhausted itself.

Although the secretary of state, Dean Acheson, spoke extemporaneously, he revised his remarks carefully and authorized their issuance as a formal statement. This is one means of serving notice on Russia that the American government does not consider it worth while to negotiate any agreements with Russia of the give-and-take category and that only agreements that ratify an already existent set of facts can be expected. This is but a renewal of the "cold war."

Behind the statements of the secretary is a bold reliance on physical force and economic force to hold the Russians at bay. There is apparently no sign of a way out short of constant coercion and preparation for war.

Many people in the world have for a long time felt that such a course of events was perhaps inevitable but official confirmation nevertheless comes with something of a shock.

This now can lead toward only one course of action—a pronouncement that, while the American government doesn't trust the Russian government, it does have faith in the capacity of the Russian people to deal with the problems that have arisen. It calls for a reiteration of the friendship of the American people for the Russian people.

This sharp differentiation between a hostile government and a friendly people is one that helped to bring World War I to an early conclusion and helped through psychological warfare to hasten the surrender of Japan in World War II.

Such a policy, however, with respect to the present Russian government cannot long go without implementation. A pronouncement of friendship for the Russian people, with renewed pledges of economic aid along the lines of the plan submitted by Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut, and a stepping-up of radio broadcasts and other forms of thought transmission can begin to draw the Russian people away from their government.

Inside the satellite countries such a strategy can be effective, too. Instead of permitting the Stalin government to be the only one "to fish in troubled waters," the American government can do some fishing in the Balkans. The loan to Tito already has signalized some of that kind of "fishing."

If the United States spent a billion dollars a year in letting the Russian people know what opportunities for a higher standard of living and what individual freedoms were possible under a free government, it might not immediately produce an upset in the Kremlin but it might make the Politburo a bit more apprehensive about internal affairs in Russia and bring sharp changes in policy.

For too long a time the formal concept has been held that international relations, as historically conducted, do not permit any steps to be taken looking toward a shaping of the internal policy of another nation. Five years ago the Catholic bishops of America, in a statement as to the bases of a sound peace, pointed out how much internal policies of governments can affect external policies and called for an examination of internal policies that threaten world peace.

Certainly if the democracies had made it their business to examine earlier the dangerous trends in the internal policies of Hitler, a second World War might have been averted. To concentrate therefore, on bringing about through every practical means a change in the complexion of the present Russian government is a move to avert a third World War. It appears to be the only alternative to the state of confessed frustration which Secretary Acheson has so voluntarily announced in his remarks to the press.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb 8—Assuming that public opinion by spontaneous accord has put a boycott on Paul Draper and Larry Adler as a criticism of their politics, persons who uphold the practices of the Roosevelt Revolution should not call this persecution. The picket line is an institution of that Revolution. The picket line is a boycott. The "unfair list" is a boycott and a sacred scroll of unionism, officially endorsed by Felix Frankfurter in the Supreme Court case which finally delivered unions from the discipline of all national law.

That was the case in which the Carpenters' Union falsely told the public that Anheuser-Busch was unfair to organized labor and conjured the people to buy no Budweiser. Anheuser-Busch was not unfair but fastidiously fair, as the court agreed, but the carpenters punished the company for refusal to violate a solemn contract with a rival union and give work to the carpenters which they had agreed to yield to the other.

If that boycott had been as effective as the carpenters desired it to be, this innocent victim of a jurisdictional spat would have been damaged severely. Even so, the damage was not trivial, but Frankfurter wrote that the court could not concern itself with the rightness or wrongness of the carpenters' position. Admitted that the carpenters bore false witness against the brewery for sordid ends, the court simply held that so far as the Sherman Anti-trust Law was concerned it had a right thus to act in restraint of interstate commerce thanks to exemptions provided exclusively for unions by later laws.

The fact was admitted that this was a boycott intentionally injurious to an innocent party. The decision was a great victory for the union rackets and never a word of regret was heard of essential wrong, although we do hear low, piteous moans for Draper and Adler.

I recall also the episode of Eleanor and the picket line when the Gab was about to enter a theatre but encountered pickets from a racket local of the Grand Master Racket of Jimmy Petrillo. She therefore cashed in her tickets and went elsewhere. That theatre was unionized from the ticket office to the alley, but the musicians' racket held that the phonographic rendition of some faint, offstage strains made it a musical show and demanded jobs for a full crew of stiffs, which are hangers-on from the union hall who don't have to play any instrument and probably can't. Stiffs are standbys, usually relatives of the union bosses. There was no strike nor any dispute with any labor the employed and the whole affair was a shakedown wherein Eleanor the Great the great instinctively threw in with the racket against the victim.

Nedda Harrigan, a beautiful actress, got her Irish up over this dirty business and raised the brand of hell which for treasons beyond me is described as ultrashirted in reprisal for which I would not be at all surprised to hear that she has been put under a boycott herself. I should like to bolster this with illustrious names but forbear because once you whisper pity or nostalgia for an actor, psychology says, "Yes, I remember him ," and he hasn't, not helped. Nevertheless, all true Americans of the arts of entertainment know that the boycott of Draper and Adler, if such there be, is incomplete and a pleasure by comparison with the artistic and economic death sentence that has been executed on practically every American who has dared to fight the Communists whether in Hollywood or on Broadway.

Thus it was that when Draper got $600 for a night's work dancing dainty figures and tossing his golden curls with hands on hips, in a New York television show the wife of one such inmate of our theatrical Dachau cried out: "Plenty of hungry anti-Communists could have used that $600." Her husband, a great comedian and humorist, hasn't had a job to say nothing of a bit since he declared about seven years ago that he would never work with Communists or for one. He hasn't. He hasn't worked, period. And in Hollywood the fate of those pro-Americans who went to Washington and put the finger on the Reds has been not only idleness but the death of a thousand cuts inflicted by condescending rumors that they had their little hour but got washed up.

This draper television show was done by an inveterate but incurable adolescent named Ed Sullivan, a stagestruck paragrapher of the Broadway underworld beat who long ago found virtue in racketeers and sometimes experiments in political opinion. He put Draper into the act and when they pulled the girders off his neck he apologized to whom and for what one could only surmise out of his confusion. He seems to have been bold enough to essay by impudence but not stout enough to defend his choice of Draper, as a man of hardier tripes and wider knowledge could have done.

Draper and Larry Adler brought upon themselves whatever has befallen them. They put it in the mind of Mrs. Hester McCullough

The Bureau of Agricultural nomics reported that this rate production per bird has moved ahead every year since 1940. The December average was a record the month for the U. S. as a and for 38 individual states

Low Priced Protein

The Poultry and Egg National Board said eggs at current prices are one of the lowest-priced protein foods on a per-pound basis (a dozen large eggs weighs about a pound and a half). They're sell- at 27 to 29 cents a pound in parts of the country and 31 cents a pound in the larger eastern cities. The industry asso- ation said, adding:

"If every American would eat on an average about two dozen more eggs this year than last, taxpayers' money would not have to be spent on buying eggs under the support program - and the eggs would be nourishing the tax- payers instead of standing around in warehouses and caves."

The Agriculture Department, incidentally, announced this week it would continue supporting farmer prices for eggs through March at the current level -even although the government already has about $100,000,000 worth.

The price increases this week for coffee were confined mostly to chain store bag-packed brands which moved up more slowly than the major vacuum-packed coffees late last year. It was only a mat- ter of time trade sources said, be- fore the chains were forced to make upward adjustments to cover their own stock replacement costs following the jump in green coffee prices in November and December.

Avoiding Choice Cuts

A meat market analyst for the Agriculture Department in New York predicted the mild upswing in meat prices this week would be short-lived. Consumers are devel- oping more price resistance to the expensive cuts lately, especially in beef items, he said.

"People are buying more top round steak, and steering away from porterhouse, and it's the same trend in roasts," he reported. "That swing in demand has been pushing the cheaper cuts a little higher, but as budget-minded shoppers then drift away from beef to proportionally less expen- sive pork or poultry, all beef prices should ease. The better grade beef will soon be more plentiful anyhow."

The Dun & Bradstreet whole- sale food price index this week climbed one cent to $5.80 and was the highest since last Sept. 13. This also was the first week since mid-1948 that the index was higher than the year-previous fig- ure; it compared with $5.66 a year ago. The figure represents the to- tal wholesale cost of one pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Cheaper Food Is Scarcer Review of Market Shows

(By The Associated Press)

Lean beef, pork and poultry items cost a little more in retail food stores this week, and prices of several chain store brands of coffee advanced two to four cents a pound.

Pascal celery, beets, cauliflower, good quality spinach and fresh strawberries, where available, also were marked up this week in most places as shipments dwindled.

Foods lower than last week-end were far in the minority. Eggs were a penny or two a dozen cheaper in some stores as producers, distributors and the Agriculture Department launched a joint week-long egg promotion campaign today (Thursday). It's to call public attention to the huge supply and resulting low prices, lowest since 1942.

Some smoked meat items, lettuce, carrots, onions, eggplant and peas about completed the list of food lower priced, and even for these the markdowns were by no means unanimous.

The abundance of eggs is the result first of exceptionally large flocks, estimated to be about 6 per cent larger than last year, and second of record egg production per hen.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported that this rate of production per bird has moved upward every year since 1940. The December average was a record for the month for the U. S. as a whole and for 38 individual states as well.

Low Priced Protein

The Poultry and Egg National Board said eggs at current prices are one of the lowest-priced protein foods on a per-pound basis (a dozen large eggs weighs about a pound and a half). They're selling at 25 to 29 cents a pound in many parts of the country and 31 to 34 cents a pound in the larger eastern cities the industry association said, adding:

"If every American would eat on an average about two dozen more eggs this year than last, taxpayers' money would not have to be spent on buying eggs under the support program and the eggs would be nourishing the taxpayers instead of standing around in warehouses and caves."

The Agriculture Department, incidentally, announced this week it would continue supporting farmer prices for eggs through March at the current level—even although the government already has about $100,000,000 worth.

The price increases this week for coffee were confined mostly to chain store bag-packed brands which moved up more slowly than the major vacuum-packed coffees late last year. Helicopter Is . . .

ed Helicopter Utilities Inc Westchester County Airport, White Plains explained the workings of the craft to the assembled District executives and employees. It was the first visit of a helicopter to the plant, and was one of the few seen in this city.

The craft demonstrated was a Hiller 360 the design and patent of Stanley Hiller, Jr., and is manufactured at Palo Alto, California by United Helicopters, Inc.

Careful production, it was explained has reduced to cost of helicopters considerably, until today such a craft costs about one-quarter less than four years ago. Hiller produced 43 of the novel skyriders in 1949.

Engine Air-Cooled

The helicopter demonstrated operates on an air-cooled engine. It is capable of vertical, forward, reverse and left or right takeoffs. It is equipped with two main rotors with a diameter of 35 feet. In addition there is a vertical tail rotor which keeps the ship in steady flight.

Electrol was honored during the war by flights of Grumman fighter planes including a memorable air show in 1943 at Kingston Airport as Wildcats and Avengers the latter a torpedo-carrying plane which raised havoc with the Japanese at Tulagi as one of the early surprise weapons of the United States Navy. All Grumman aircraft carried Electrol hydraulics designs of which were made by Ashton who at the time was the plant's chief engineer.

Safety Is Demonstrated

Mason explained the purpose of the demonstration to President Ashton was to interest the corporation in the possibilities of helicopter safety factors. "It is becoming more and more popular," the Hiller representative said, "in industry commerce agriculture and private flying. It is the coming all-purpose aircraft. Its value has been demonstrated so many times that the public is acquainted with the more dramatic qualities exemplified by sea rescues and so on. The public also is becoming more and more conscious of the safety factor. It is having a great influence on private flying."

Mrs. Ashton Has Flight

In the afternoon Pilot Morris took Richard O. Gruver, city editor of The Freeman and Mrs. Ashton for flights.

The Freeman representative was taken practically over the same course flown by Ashton. Morris told Gruver when they hovered over Ashton's home, "I want to show you something. See those three marks in the snow down there? We'll see if we can set down in them." Morris then proceeded to drop the craft into in an easy landing, checked the position and said, grinning, "See for yourself."

Morris refueled at Kingston-Ulster Airport and then took off in a sharp reverse climb into a sharp northeast wind. There was no rocking of the craft, no vibration. In fact at no time was there any bumpy flying experienced.

Mrs. Ashton was taken to her home in Sunset Park, where her husband took moving pictures of the craft landing.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ashton were enthusiastic over their flight. "There's nothing better," they both exclaimed.

Morris explained that the craft has a cruising speed of 76 miles per hour with a maximum of 84. It carries a 4-2 safety factor, while 2-8 is the Civil Aeronautics Administration requirement. "One of the things I like," Morris said, "is the extreme ease of handling in soupy weather. I have taken many cross-country trips in helicopters and often I have hopped along 25 to 30 feet above highways, following traffic. This has been done under conditions when other craft were grounded."

Mason and Morris returned to White Plains late Wednesday afternoon.

Traffic Light

A traffic light will be installed at the junction of Routes 32 and 9W in the town of Plattekill at Modena, following approval by the State Traffic Commission. About six years ago County Clerk Harry D. Sutton, then supervisor of the town of Plattekill, began action to have a "stop and go" light installed at the intersection following several serious accidents. Approval by the commission has finally been granted. In summer there is heavy traffic on Route 55 and the intersection is made extremely dangerous by buildings which obstruct vision.

She was granted a minimum $1,550 a month alimony. They have two small children. The couple parted on friendly terms about a year ago and have been seen together frequently during that time.

No Waiting for Navy Enlistees, Says Chief

There's no waiting period for enlistments in the U. S. Navy, except the three weeks necessary for processing papers, Chief Paul Cahill said today as he specified that men between the ages of 17 and 31 are eligible for service.

Youths of 17 must have the consent of their parents for enlistment, Chief Cahill reported. He said enlistments are for four and six years.

In addition to accepting general service enlistments, the Navy has reopened its program for high school airmen recruits, according to Cahill. High school graduates, who qualify through a written test at the Kingston recruiting station in the post office, will be assured of training in a Navy aviation school.

Chief Cahill pointed out that applicants must present their birth certificates before they can be processed for enlistment.

Two Men Confess In Rose Robbery

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Two men have been arrested and have admitted participation in the daring $25,000 gem and fur robbery at the home of showman Billy Rose, police said today.

The announcement was made by Police Commissioner William P. O'Brien. It came after the two had been questioned for hours by top-ranking members of the police department.

The commissioner said three other men also were being sought.

He identified the two men in custody as Andrew Finnegan, 34, of (318 West 20th street) Manhattan, a longshoreman, and Alex (Red) Grenlick, 33, of (34-50 29th street,) Astoria, Queens. Both men have long police records, O'Brien said.

The furs and jewelry stolen from Rose's palatial east side residence belonged to his beauteous wife, one-time Olympic swimmer Eleanor Holm.

Forty-eight hours after the burglary, robbers looted the midtown apartment of ex-model Maxine Sanson and fled with jewelry valued at $300,000. Mrs. Sanson is the wife of Stanton D. Sanson, wealthy Philadelphia hosiery manufacturer.

Grenlick, police said, was arrested Tuesday and Finnegan was picked up at his home today.

In addition, a man not immediately identified was taken to the police station this morning for questioning as the "fence" who authorities said reportedly purchased the Rose jewelry from the thieves.

A 13-state alarm was sent out by police shortly after 11 a. m. (E.S.T.) for the arrest of two other men wanted in connection with the burglary. Police identified them as William Lalanne, 22, of (21-03 45th Road) Long Island City, Queens, and Joseph Vitulano, 21, of (11-40 44th Drive), Long Island City.

Five Persons Held

the inquiry, authorities here were in contact with Boston and other eastern cities.

At the same time police were checking recent jewelry and fur robberies in the nation in an effort to determine if any loot had appeared here and been handled by a fence.

Brink's in Boston was robbed Jan. 17 by nine men who escaped with $1,500,000. A day earlier holdup men took $48,000 from the Statler Hotel in Boston.

Circulars on the five under arrest here were distributed to cities on the eastern seaboard.

On a routine checkup the five were seized at 3:15 a. m. yesterday in a so-called "hoodlum neighborhood." A paper bag in the car bulged with $28,000 in $100 bills and $9,150 in $50 bills.

Held on a technical "for investigation" charge were John Gach, 35, and his bride of three weeks, Dorothy, 22; Merico Depietto, 29; Steve Settas, 29, and Steve Vitale, 25.

A second woman, described as a friend of Depietto, was arrested in Grand Rapids, Mich., for questioning. Depietto has lived in both Grand Rapids and Brooklyn, N. Y., police said.

Five Persons Die

3 months, Gail, 16 months, and Theodore, 3.

Coroner Frank O'Connor said the blaze apparently originated in a defective oil stove.

The bodies of the mother and her older son were in a bedroom at the front of the apartment. The father's body was in the kitchen doorway. The other two children were in a rear bedroom.

Occupants of the upper floors, including eight children, escaped.

The fire was the fourth destructive blaze in the capitol district of Albany-Troy-Schenectady in three days and the second major fire in Albany in the same period.

A fire Tuesday night badly damaged an Albany food market. Another blaze yesterday destroyed a 45-room inn five miles west of Schenectady with loss estimated by the owner at $40,000. A third fire gutted a district grade school at Wynantskill, a mile from Troy. Damage was estimated by a school official at $150,000.

Pilot Is Sought

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Navy crews today searched the waters of Jamaica Bay for a crashed jet fighter and the pilot who went down with the burning plane. So far only fragments of the wreckage have been found. The missing navy flier, lone occupant of the plane which developed engine trouble and crashed into the bay yesterday, was Chief Aviation Pilot Jack J. Conrad, 27, of Norfolk, Va.

On Side of Oleo

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—A butter manufacturer wants the Legislature to repeal New York's ban on the manufacture and sale of yellow oleomargarine, and he asks Governor Dewey to wage such action. Albert Lowenfels of the Hotel Bar Butter Company of New York city contends that dairy interests and legislators are "making a big mistake" in opposing pre-colored yellow oleomargarine.

Boy Scouts Add 300,000 Members

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP) — Boy Scouts during the past year have picked up 300,000 new members, the greatest gain in their 40-year history.

Robert J. Deruntz, 17-year-old Scout from Granite City, Ill., presented this report today at a Scout breakfast attended by congressmen and other national leaders.

Leading the cheers at news of the organization's growth was Eagle Scout Tom Clark, who in other company is identified as a Supreme Court justice.

Delegates here for National Boy Scout Week face a busy schedule that includes visiting with the Scouts' honorary president, President Truman. From here they go to Philadelphia and New York.

Among Scouts making the trip is William D. Wells, 189 Weaver street, Larchmont, N. Y.

Sixth Dry Day Observed

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Industry today had orders to cut down on usage of water—or else. That was the warning word from Water Commissioner Stephen J. Carney as New York today observed its sixth "dry day." Business and manufacturing concerns were urged to make special water-saving efforts. The usual dry-day rules—such as refraining from baths or shaving— were tacked up again for the ordinary household. Carney said that unless the trend is revised soon, industrial curbs on water use are "definitely in prospect." Reservior storage yesterday stood at 48 per cent of capacity, compared to 81 per cent at this time last year.

No More Red Tape

New Delhi, India, Feb. 9 (AP)—There will be no more red tape in the government of India. Red tape—of the variety used to tie up letter files—is being replaced by white tape. Officials explain red is a British imperial color and has no place here now that India is a republic. Besides, white tape is cheaper.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

QUEEN OF THE FOLLIES for 20 years of the early Twentieth Century was Nora Bayes, seen above in a dainty negligee. Noted for her caprices, her gay romances and impulsive marriages (there were five), Miss Bayes was sometimes called "the most difficult" star in show business. She lived as she thought a big star of her day should, spent money lavishly, traveled in private cars, covered herself with jewels and conducted herself like a queen. No one disputed her right. She had superb talent, a wonderful voice and a great stage personality. One of her husbands was Jack Norworth, actor, songwriter and for a time her vaudeville partner. Most lasting monument to their teamwork is the classic "Shine On, Harvest Moon," which they wrote and made into a hit together.

As Pegler Sees It

to observe aloud that they had been mentioned in connection with organizations officially declared to be subversive. That comment was restrained by comparison with the charges in her answer to their suit which I venture to believe will never go to trial, eager as I know the lady is to prove them all.

I am able to report for the heartening of Larry Adler's devotees that the boycott they complain of is incomplete. In Toronto on Jan. 16 the Casino offered Mr. A. in person at 29 cents from nine till noon, 50 cents until six and 67 cents till closing.

Lead the Bottom Of 3-Card Suits

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

I received today's lesson on the play from Mrs. Augusta Cantor of New York. In her letter she said she had recently changed her style on opening leads of three-card suits She used to lead the six spot, if she had three small, say the 6-5-2 Then she would play the five and her partner would have to guess whether she held the deuce But now she leads the low card if she is leading a three-card suit, even though she does not hold an honor.

This is the way Mrs Cantor gave the play of the hand Sitting West, she opened the six of diamonds, dummy played low and her partner won the trick with the ten-spot Her partner then cashed the king of diamonds

When Mrs Cantor played the five-spot, her partner definitely knew that she was out of diamonds South had been careful to play the seven and then the eight of diamonds, concealing the deuce. East safely cashed the high diamond and led the fourth diamond

Declarer ruffed high shutting out Mrs. Cantor's ten-spot There was no way now that declarer could play the hand to keep from losing a club trick

Mrs Cantor said the hand provides the following lesson. No. 1—Lead the top of a two-card suit, but lead the bottom of a three-card or longer suit No 2—If in doubt about a lead open your short suit when you are short in trump, but lead a long suit when long in trump

Mrs. Cantor further stated that many players might make the normal lead of the ten of clubs in this hand, but if so, the hand could not be defeated She followed lesson number two being short in trump she led the short suit

Saugerties Scout Signs for Jamboree At Valley Forge

Life Scout William Nieffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nieffer, Beech street, Saugerties, and a member of Troop 32, sponsored by the Atonement Lutheran Church is the first Ulster-Greene Council Scout to file his registration for participation in the Second National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge next summer. Young Nieffer has been a Scout since March 1945 and received his Life Scout rank at Camp Tri-Mount last summer when Troop 32 was having its annual long-term camping experience. He holds 16 merit badges and is a member of the junior staff of the troop.

Nieffer's jamboree registration was announced today by Harry Rigby, Jr., chairman of the council jamboree committee. At a meeting of the committee last night it was reported that the Kingston Lions Club had indicated its approval of the jamboree project by contributing $80 to be used to help Scouts pay the costs of the jamboree. This amount, coupled with the $400 given by the Greene County American Legion last week will give 12 Scouts an opportunity to participate in the greatest encampment ever staged. 40,000 Scouts and leaders from all over the country will camp together in a huge tent city at Valley Forge for a week, visiting all the historic spots of that shrine and Philadelphia.

Rigby stated that the leaders of the Ulster-Greene jamboree troop will be announced in the next few days. The committee is making every effort to secure the best possible Scouters to lead the local delegation. Plans are being made to procure the best equipment for the local Scouts to provide for them a camping experience second to none.

Settled for $2

Newark, N. J., Feb. 9 (AP)—Thieves broke into the Packard Motor Company early yesterday to do a job on the office safe. They went at it first with an acetylene torch from the company's repair shop. But their gas supply ran out. Next they attacked the safe, which held $350 in cash, with sledgehammers. Also no success. Police said they finally gave up and battered a cigarette machine in the office for $2 worth of nickels and dimes.

Contract Is Awarded

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—The state awarded a contract today for construction of a 2,000,000 gallon water tank at Hudson River State Hospital, Poughkeepsie. The Vanguard Construction Corp. of New York city was given the $85,170 contract. The circular welded steel plate tank will be 85 feet in diameter and 48 feet high. It will rest on a 12-inch reinforced concrete base.

Country in Most Dangerous Period, Snyder Declares

"We are not paid for what we do (for others) but are rewarded," said the eminent world-traveler, news commentator and lecturer, Frederic Snyder of Kingston, speaking on "Keeping Ahead of the Headlines" in his memorial address to the late Rev. James Gibbon Cameron, former rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Rosendale, delivered at the Rosendale Grange hall on Tuesday evening. The speaker cited many interesting and exemplifying instances of this in his own life.

Snyder discoursed at length on current strikes, labor problems and other headlines in the news, and their effect on the moral, religious, economic and political welfare of the nation. "This is the most dangerous period that the country has ever known," he said, "both internally and externally," and remarked that what is needed to strengthen our position both at home and abroad are leaders who are "dedicated," not "infuriated." The speaker stated that 94 per cent of the people of the world do not live in this country, and 90 per cent of those people are taught to hate America and Americans for what we have and are. He mentioned that a great many people opine that man's greatest asset is his imagination, others say it is his memory, but the lecturer emphasized the importance of faith, adding that Christ tried to give man faith. The speaker defined meekness as "teachableness, or willingness to learn," and referred to Albert Einstein as the greatest living example of meekness in his efforts to understand the mysterious or unknown.

Frederic Snyder stated that he was the first Boy Scout in Ulster county, and wore the first Boy Scout uniform in the United States. He became acquainted with the late Rev. James Cameron on various hikes of his Boy Scout Troop to Rosendale. As a result of this acquaintance the Rev. Mr. Cameron organized the first Boy Scout Troop in Rosendale. Through a correspondence which continued for many years, the Rev. Mr. Cameron recommended to Frederic Snyder books for reading, advised him in many ways, and instilled in him a faith in his ability which led to his present successful career as a world-wide traveler, lecturer and news commentator. Snyder's ability as a lecturer is well-defined by a quotation from Milton, "His words, like so many nimble servitors, trip about him at command."

Frederic Snyder was introduced by John Dittmar of the Rosendale News, through which medium Snyder made the necessary contacts and arrangements to present the memorial address. George Mollenhauer, worthy master of Rosendale Grange 1501, was introduced by the Rev. Robert C. W. Ward of Stone Ridge, present rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Rosendale, who was in charge of the program. Henry Mollenhauer, a vestryman under the rectorship of the late Rev. Mr. Cameron, gave a brief biographical sketch of the former Rosendale rector, to whose memory the address by Frederic Snyder was dedicated, and recalled many of his activities in the Rosendale Community. Attending the lecture were civic and religious leaders of the community and their representatives.

Following the lecture orders were taken for photographs of the late Rev. James Gibbon Cameron which were made from the blow-up of a snapshot which appeared in a recent issue of The Freeman. These may be obtained on order from the Rev. Robert C. W. Ward, Stone Ridge, at a nominal cost.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief — help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Experiments Proposed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—District 9 of the United States Trotting Association proposes experiments to determine whether blood tests might prove more practical than saliva tests in detecting drugs in race horses. The New York district made the recommendation yesterday. The U.S.T.A. will act on it next month at a meeting in New York city. The saliva test frequently fails to show the presence of a drug, Frank Wiswall of Londonville, president of Saratoga Raceway, said. And, he added, it does not indicate how much has been administered or how recently.

Freedom Council Criticizes Move To Bar Stromboli

New York Feb 9 (AP) The National Council of Freedom From Censorship is sharply critical of moves to prevent showings of 'Stromboli' the new movie starring Ingrid Bergman

The council yesterday called pressures to ban the film an 'outrageous and illegal denial of free speech and expression

In a letter to Sidney K Rogell, head of RKO pictures, and to Eric Johnson, president of the Motion Picture Association of America the council offered to help fight censorship of the movie.

The council, which is affiliated with the American Civil Liberties Union, referred to reports that the Italian-made movie would be banned in Memphis, Tenn., and by chains of Minnesota and Indiana theatres

It said "concerted pressure' from ministerial associations and legislatives bodies also was being applied against the picture

Such pressure, the council added, "opens new channels of censorship activity against the personal lives of the film participants, not the contents of the film itself."

The picture should be judged only "on its merit as a piece of motion picture art," the council said

BLANTON CREAMO CHOSEN 5 TO 1 IN TASTE TEST

The Best Bread-spread Regardless of Price

Housewives will be interested to know Creamo Margarine's popularity has grown faster in the past few years than the combined average of all other brands This is due to the fact that Creamo tastes better because it's made better.

In taste tests between Creamo and the most expensive type bread-spreads, participating school children chose Creamo Margarine 5 to 1.

Users say Creamo's smooth, rich flavor is so distinctively delicious, the first taste is noticeably more flavorful than ordinary spreads Not only does Creamo taste better — it's more economical, too The extra flavor goes so much farther than ordinary spreads.

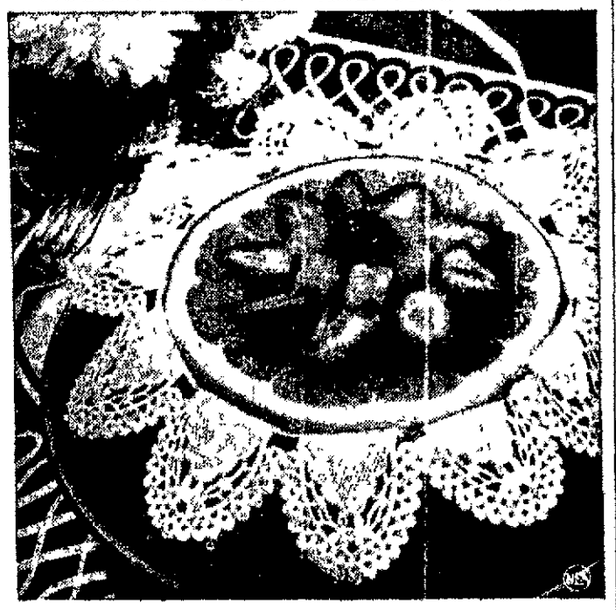
NOSEGAY STARTS VALENTINE PARTY



VALENTINE NOSEGAY—Serve grapefruit halves with strawberry halves and a big Bing cherry on a lace paper doilie.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Start with a grapefruit nosegay—beautiful to see, delicious to eat—then your Valentine luncheon or dinner will be festive

Use a little paper doily ruff Place a half grapefruit on it and squeeze the doily close about the fruit Make a colorful center on the fruit of strawberry halves (fresh or frozen) pineapple cubes and a big Bing cherry

Easy enough this Valentine hint from Florida, now busy shipping the fruit all over our vitamin C-conscious land

This is also the oyster season and those delicious bivalves too are traveling all over the country Oyster bisque, tinted delicately pink with paprika, would make an appropriate first course for your Valentine party

Oyster Bisque

One pint oysters, 4 cups milk 1 slice onion, 2 stalks celery, sprig of parsley, bit of bay leaf 1/3 cup butter, 1/3 cup flour salt pepper

Drain oysters and chop Heat slowly to the boiling point and press through a coarse sieve Scald milk with onion celery, parsley and bay leaf Melt butter, stir in flour and strain milk into butter-flour mixture Stir over a low fire or over hot water until mixture thickens

Add the strained oysters and season with salt and pepper to taste. If a thinner soup is desired, more milk may be added Serve with fried croutons or toast sticks

For a less amorous day oyster pie is a good seasonal dish for a main course

Oyster Pie

Six tablespoons butter 1 cup sliced mushrooms 7 tablespoons flour, 1¼ teaspoons salt ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¾ teaspoon celery salt, 3½ cups milk, 1 pint oysters, pepper, pastry (1½ cups flour, ½ cup shortening ½ teaspoon salt, water to moisten).

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST Orange juice ready-to-eat cereal, scrambled eggs with chives, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

VALENTINE LUNCHEON Grapefruit nosegay chicken Tetrazzini, crispy rolls butter or fortified margarine, chicory and celery root salad French dressing, heart-shaped molds of peppermint stick ice cream, petit fours, coffee, tea, milk

DINNER Oyster pie, parsley potatoes, buttered green beans, crisp rolls, butter or fortified margarine grapefruit sections and lettuce salad French dressing steamed marmalade pudding, foamy sauce, coffee, milk

February 8, 1950

Editor The Freeman
Dear Sir:

As commander of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, I wish to express the appreciation and gratitude of both the local and national organizations of the American Legion, to the people of Kingston for the enthusiastic support given to the "TIDE OF TOYS." These friendship toys collected by the American Legion through the generosity of our Kingstonians will tend to create a feeling of good-will in the children of Europe.

The toy collection in the city numbered over a 1,000 in the short space of four weeks. This is rather amazing since action was initiated after Christmas; however, I believe special mention should be made of the excellent cooperation afforded by the teachers of our school system who were willing to have their school rooms designated as depot points.

You have the heartfelt gratitude of not only the members of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, but also the unfortunate victims of war—the children of Europe.

Very truly yours,
MORGAN D. RYAN
Commander
Kingston Post No. 150

House Votes . . .

because in many cases it would retain existing rates, especially if the papers are not circulated across county lines. It would, they said, bring in more revenue from large mailers whose present rates amount to "subsidies," and who use the mails mainly for advertising purposes.

The bill would provide more revenue for the postoffice from these sources:

Post and postal cards, $36,000,000; second class matter, $15,000,000; third class, $23,600,000; fourth class, $40,000,000; registered mail, $4,000,000. The rest of the $130,000,000 would come from services not extensively used.

Percentagewise, the biggest increase is in the rate for post and postal cards. This would be doubled, from 1 cent to 2 cents per card. The Postoffice Department claims it now loses 1.6 cents on each of the 3,000,000,000 cards it handles annually.

The bill makes no change in the present free rural delivery service provided for small weekly and daily papers delivered in the county of publication. Neither would there be any hikes over present rates for other publications delivered in the county of publication.

For delivery outside the county of publication, rates would be raised half a cent per pound on reading matter, with zone increases ranging from one to three cents a pound on advertising content.

The bill does not change the present third class rates except for bulk mail which consists mainly of miscellaneous mail matter.

Coal Fact-Finders

three-week furlough starting Friday.

In Detroit, dwindling fuel supplies caused General Motors to cancel all plans for Saturday work and scheduled overtime.

Lewis, during yesterday's session of the inquiry board, had declared a settlement "possible" in a few hours if genuine bargaining were undertaken. But coal operators were not hopeful that agreement could be reached in "the few hours that we have."

Each side accused the other of erecting obstacles to negotiation. The operators declared Lewis has refused to specify his demands and has been adamant on the clause by which miners are bound to work only when "willing and able."

This, they told the board of inquiry, amounts to a refusal by U.M.W. to guarantee of performance of any contract it may sign. They contended further that they could not renew the union shop clause, which according to southern spokesman Joseph E. Moody, is illegal under the Taft-Hartley law.

Sees Record Fading

San Francisco, Feb. 9 (AP)—The pilot of a record-breaking navy bomber doesn't expect his new mark to stand very long. The twin-engined plane landed at San Francisco Airport after a 5,060-mile flight from the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt. Cmdr. Thomas Robinson commented: "We clipped the old record of 4,800 miles, but the next flight will probably break ours."

Fights Discrimination

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—The president of the Syracuse University Men's Student Government body has asked his student assembly to pass a bill which he said would bar from the campus all student organizations with discriminatory clauses in their constitutions, charters or by-laws.

Air Taxi Service Outlined to Board

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—A picture of helicopters knitting together the New York Metropolitan area with air taxi and expedited air mail service was painted at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing that resumés today.

Local officials and plane makers joined with helicopter operators yesterday in asking that the C.A.B. permit local service.

Three helicopter operators are asking for flight certificates that would allow them to perform varied services of a short haul nature in the port of New York area.

One advantage would be speeding up mail delivery from post office to airport and vice versa, with a great gain in air mail delivery time to suburban centers.

Another, helicopter advocates said, would be to link passenger terminals in Manhattan with the port's three big airports— LaGuardia, Idlewild and Newark.

One helicopter, Alvin P. Adams, chairman of Air Commuting, Inc., estimated yesterday that air mail receipts would jump $500,000 a year if helicopter pickups and deliveries were started. He said he based his figures on experience in Chicago and Los Angeles.

The post office is expected to oppose the plan at tomorrow's hearing.

Two other applicants for service certificates are New York Airways, Inc., and Island Air Ferries, Inc., of Islip, Long Island.

Federick A. Smith, president of the Island Company, said his concern has carried 8,000 to 10,000 passengers between LaGuardia and Idlewild and to points in suburban Long Island, Westchester county, and Connecticut.

He wants to expand his routes to include the Newark Airport in New Jersey, and Manhattan Island, as well as handling mail.

Adams said his air commuting company wants eight routes with terminals at Patchogue, N. Y.; Bridgeport, Conn.; Danbury, Conn.; Newburgh, N. Y.; Nyack, N. Y.; Dover, N. J.; Trenton, N. J.; and Asbury Park, N. J.

The Third Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Were Wrong!

What Has Gone Before

Today's ad is the third in a series telling about times the anti-trust lawyers made serious and damaging charges against A&P that the courts decided were not true.

In the first ad in this series we told you about the time the anti-trust lawyers charged that A&P, and other good American citizens, conspired to fix the price of bread in Washington.

These charges were false.

That was the time Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty".

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all.

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

But that was not the only time the anti-trust lawyers made such serious "allegations" against A&P which were false.

In our second ad we told you about the time in Wilson, North Carolina, they charged A&P's fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, and other good American citizens, with conspiring to fix and depress prices paid farmers for potatoes in North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

Here again, as in the Washington bread case, the charges were false.

This was the time Federal Judge C. C. Wyche directed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty".

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"I have studied this case from the very outset. In my opinion there is no testimony produced from which it can reasonably be inferred that the defendants entered into a combination to depress or lower the price of potatoes.

"I might say that I never tried a case in my life where a greater effort, more work, more investigation had been done, combing almost with a fine-tooth comb to gather evidence, as was done in this case.

"But, as was said a long time ago, you can't make brick without straw, and you can't make a case without facts."

So here were two cases in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against A&P, in which the judge decided that there were no facts to support those charges.

Today, we want to tell you about the third time —this time in Dallas, Texas—the court decided against the anti-trust lawyers.

Is it a crime to give people more good food for their money?

For 90 years A&P has devoted all its energies to this end.

For many months now the anti-trust lawyers from Washington have been giving stories to the newspapers, making speeches and talking over the radio about this company.

They have been making serious and damaging allegations about the methods that enable A&P to give its customers better food values.

We have already told you about other times the anti-trust lawyers made charges against us that were proved utterly false in court.

In the left-hand column on this page you can read what the federal judges had to say about those two cases.

Now we are going to tell you about the third time a federal judge decided against the anti-trust lawyers.

The Dallas Anti-Trust Suit

In 1942 the anti-trust lawyers went out to Dallas, Texas, 1,400 miles from the homes of most of the defendants, and instigated criminal charges against A&P.

About this case one thing was sure.

Their previous experience did not deter the anti-trust lawyers from making more inflammatory and damaging allegations, just as they had done before.

They made practically the same allegations they are making today.

Federal Judge W. H. Atwell ruled that the case should not even be tried. He said that the indictment contained inflammatory statements that he would not permit to be presented to a jury.

Judge Atwell said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If I thought I was presiding over a court and that I might have to sentence some person because he was a great big fellow, or because he was a Lilliputian, I would feel like resigning. God knows we don't want it ever to occur in America that the size is going to determine whether a man is guilty or innocent."

Judge Atwell also said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If the indictment is not good then it is better to find out before an expensive trial than it is after an expensive trial. I do not think it is good, and thinking that, it is my duty to sustain the demurrers and motion to quash."

In short, Federal Judge Atwell threw the anti-trust lawyers and their case right out of his court.

So that makes three times that the anti-trust lawyers made damaging allegations against A&P. In two of these cases federal judges said they were all wrong. In the third case a federal judge said the indictment was inflammatory and he would not even permit the case to be tried.

The anti-trust lawyers were not satisfied with the Dallas decision.

Neither were they satisfied with the two other decisions in which federal courts administered stinging rebukes to them.

They were still determined to destroy A&P.

In our next ad we will tell you how they continued their campaign in this case in the Circuit Court of Appeals and subsequent proceedings.

We will show you how, once again, they disagreed with the courts.

Everything that has happened since this suit was filed proves that the American people don't want A&P destroyed.

A deluge of letters from people in all walks of life and thousands of editorials in newspapers and magazines convince us that the public has faith in A&P.

The housewives of this nation, whose patronage has made this company big, are buying from us in increasing numbers and increasing volume.

Our suppliers, whom the anti-trust lawyers allege we have exploited, are rushing to our support.

Labor leaders, mindful of the fact that A&P employees enjoy the best wages, hours and working conditions, are taking a stand against the suit.

Even many of our good competitors, who the anti-trust lawyers allege are hurt by our competition, have taken ads to tell the public that they don't like this attack on A&P.

All this indicates that the American people realize that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency, against low prices and against real competition.

Apparently most Americans do not want to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on any businessman who does a better and more efficient job and grows big in the process.

No one can make them believe it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

Today's Business Mirror

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—The [illegible] employment has just [illegible] a postwar peak of nearly [illegible] Truman up two questions:

1. Is this peak, representing [illegible] per cent of the total civilian [illegible], at the danger point?

2. Is the nation's economy absorbing steadily rising labor force, [illegible]

Economists say four per cent unemployment is "normal," seven per cent is not yet dangerous, and [illegible] expect the spring pickup in business [illegible].

But with our expanding population [illegible] forth about 800,000 [illegible] who are willing and able to work. This means that to keep unemployment high and to prevent [illegible] from rising [illegible] all those already at work hold their jobs, and at the same time [illegible] around 600,000 new jobs [illegible] each year.

To do this, economists urge: [illegible] build a greater physical [illegible] so that more people will have [illegible] to work; and, more important, output, to pay the additional workers. It won't be easy.

This goal was set forth by President Truman in his economic report: Reduction of unemployment by the end of this year to "2 million, or 2½ million at most;" 61 million civilian jobs; and "stepping up our national output by about 7 per cent above the 1949 total."

Yet, Commerce Secretary Sawyer says the nation's jobless total has jumped to almost 4½ million, a gain of 1.8 million over the previous January. He says 50.7 million persons are working in nonfarming jobs and 6.2 million on the farms.

The 2½ million unemployed, which President Truman set as a goal, would be about 4 per cent of the labor force, or "normal." The low point in postwar unemployment came at the boom's peak in October, 1948, when the jobless were only 2½ per cent of the labor force, which economists call "abnormally low."

But percentages are cold things. To the man out of a job, his situation is 100 per cent unemployment. In the city where an industry goes down, the situation is far from normal. However, to the dealer in percentages, five million unemployed is the "danger" mark in relation to the present total labor force.

A businessman's views of the problem underlying the recent spurt in unemployment is set forth today by W. Walter Williams of Seattle, chairman of the Committee for Economic Development. He tells the National Automobile Dealers Association, meeting in Atlantic City:

"Our population is rising, and if industry does not expand sufficiently to absorb the new entrants into the labor force, we will develop an unemployment problem of considerable magnitude. We are not now producing at rates high enough to sustain what is commonly considered to be high employment. The winter months are seasonally low as far as employment is concerned, but employment will have to rise during the year if we are to have a healthy and prosperous economy."

On these points, President Truman urges further private investment based "on confidence in growth"; and that productivity per worker be increased by at least 2 to 2½ per cent a year.

Williams notes that expenditures in the first quarter of 1950 for new plant and equipment are estimated as 15 per cent lower than last year's first quarter—so that job opportunities aren't expanding at the old rate.

Increased productivity, Williams adds, means "greater output per man-machine-hour; for the worker this means working better, not harder." He urges labor and management to get together "to increase the size of the whole pie to be divided among all of us."

Orange Marks Robber

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—"Look for a man spattered with orange juice." That's the advice Hugh Smith, market proprietor, gave officers investigating a robbery at Smith's market. Smith said the thief got away, but not scot-free. Mrs. Smith chucked an orange at the robber as he fled, scoring a direct hit.

Many trees never were noticed by anyone as being different from any other until botanists discovered and named them.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

New York (AP)—A young army hero who won the nation's highest award for valor at the age of 18 now is attacking an educational objective.

"I want to finish grammar school," said Master Sergeant James R. Hendrix. "After all I'm 24 now, and I ought to be getting on with my schooling. I want to learn all I can."

The stocky, red-haired, freckle-faced paratrooper, who came here to appear in a film short for the American Cancer Society, plans to attend a school at Camp Campbell, Ky., his present base.

"I only got to the fourth grade before the war," he grinned. He said he quit in go to work so "the younger kids" could have a chance. He is the second oldest of 14 children in the family of a Lepanto, Ark., cotton farmer.

Hendrix is a man for whom death has taken a holiday.

He went through eight months and 21 days of doughboy combat overseas without a scratch. On Christmas Eve, 1944, in Belgium he went on a daylong battle rampage that won him the Congressional medal of honor. Between dawn and dusk he:

1. Pulled three wounded American soldiers from flaming vehicles.

2. Drove the crews away from two 88 field guns by his rifle fire.

3. Destroyed two enemy machine gun positions.

4. Killed seven Germans with his rifle.

5. Captured 13 other Germans.

"All I got was a few bullet holes through my clothes," he recalled.

As a Medal of Honor winner, he could pick his branch of service. So he transferred out of the armored infantry into an airborne division, which had turned him down earlier because of his color blindness.

Last September he had another miraculous escape from death. While making his eighth jump from a plane, both his chutes failed to open and he plunged 1,000 feet to the ground. The durable Hendrix wasn't even dented.

"But I did make a two-and-a-half-foot hole in that plowed field," he laughed.

Since then he has made six more parachute jumps without incident.

"I feel sure now I'm going to die of old age," he said.

Hendrix hopes to put in 30 years of service, retire at 48 to an Arkansas farm "and raise cows, hogs and chickens."

"The army has been good to me," he said. "I was drafted into it, but once I got in I found I liked it. Up to now it has given me everything I wanted in life. A lot of the fellows who were in it overseas stayed in for that reason."

Jim lives by a simple philosophy of courage, and feels he has security. He isn't worried about old age, or going broke, and says he doesn't think life will get him down.

"I live today," he said, "because tomorrow isn't here yet."

When I asked him if there wasn't anything in the world he was afraid of, Jim thought a while and said:

"No, I guess I can't think of a thing right now I'm a-skeert of. Well, if I am a-skeert of anything, I guess I'm a-skeert of dying."

Annual Easter Monday Ball to Be Held At Governor Clinton Hotel This Year

The big formal Easter Monday Ball of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital will be held this year in the Governor Clinton Hotel instead of the Kingston Auditorium, Mrs. Allan A. Baker, president, announced today.

The event, among the most notable on Kingston's social calendar, has a twenty-five year history. This will be the first time, Mrs. Baker said, that the Governor Clinton has housed the annual affair.

Some 1200 invitations will be sent out, Mrs. Baker said and "we hope everyone will respond."

Another innovation this year will be the use of a local orchestra instead of "imported" entertainment. "By doing this, money will be kept in our own city, the costs of the dance will be kept at a minimum, and a greater profit will be realized, to be turned over to the much-needed building fund of the Benedictine Hospital," the Ladies' Auxiliary announcement stated.

Much enthusiasm was shown by the unusually large attendance at the regular monthly meeting Feb. 1 concerning the ball.

Mrs. George Einterz and Mrs. Vincent Amatrano were appointed co-chairmen. Miss Anne Campbell will again resume the duties of treasurer for the ball.

At the meeting a letter was read concerning National Children's Dental Health Day, Feb. 6, 1950, and members were urged to spread the necessary information to parents and groups on the care of children's teeth.

The club voted to buy a ticket to the March of Dimes Ball.

Guest speaker was the Rev. John Simmons of St. Joseph's Church, who gave an informative and humorous running account of his recent trip to Spain, Portugal, France, Switzerland and Italy. He told of the beauty and size of the various cathedrals in each country, and described his impressions at the Shrine of Fatima in Portugal and the Shrine of Lourdes in France.

The audience was enthusiastic at his description of the museums he had visited, and his account of the primitive methods used in agriculture, dress, and housing in certain countries.

Father Simmons often referred to advantages in art, educational methods and scenic beauty possessed by the United States.

New members added to the auxiliary were: Mrs. Charles Marabella, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Harry Bellswinger and Mrs. Charles Tracy.

Mrs. J. Haviland Barley announced that Ronald Herrick will speak on puppetry at the February meeting.

A social hour followed the meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. Joseph Matey and Mrs. Carl Nadalet. Miss Mary Campbell poured.

Government Issues

sign procedures can be established," the report said, it is possible now to offer some "tentative" suggestions.

It said large, new structures should be fire resistant and strengthened against blast and ground shock. Such buildings would have to be strong enough to stand against a horizontal wind exerting 90 pounds per square foot, and a wind blowing straight down with a force of 70 pounds per square foot.

The new report said that making existing structures A-blast resistant is much more difficult than planning new buildings.

Bomb shelter location in commercial buildings should be given "first priority," it said, with shelters spotted on the lower floors or halls in the building's interior.

Around the shelter should be a 12-inch thick reinforced concrete wall fastened securely to the building's outer structure. "In most cases," the report says, this will be "adequate to resist blast at one-half mile" from the ground center of the explosion.

Dies for $74

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—A 75-year-old Brooklyn drug store clerk gave his life to save $74 of his employer's money. Benjamin Levine, the clerk, was alone in the DeKalb avenue store last night when two young Negroes entered, brandished pistols and asked where the money was kept. Levine insisted there was no money in the store, and one of the holdup men shot him in the stomach.

Gold's Dress Sale

In the advertisement of Gold's last night, prices for Kingston Days sale should have been quoted: Dresses formerly priced as high as $17.95, selling for one dollar. Dresses ranging up to $22.95, selling for five dollars.

27th Annual Supper Set for Immaculate Conception Parish

The 27th annual parish supper of the Immaculate Conception Church will be held in the White Eagle Hall, 477 Delaware avenue, Monday, Feb. 13, from 5 to 9 p. m., it was announced today. Proceeds will go to the new school fund.

Mrs. Mary Janeczek, chairman of the kitchen committee, has promised that a "delicious menu" will be prepared for the event, which is sponsored by the combined societies of the church.

After supper, there will be dancing until midnight, with music supplied by Tony Kwasnik's orchestra.

Valentine Skop, general chairman of the event, announced the following members of his committee: Peter Tucker, co-chairman; Rose Lukaszewski, dining room; Mrs. Pearl Reis, tickets; Sam Janeczek, refreshments.

Former AP Staffer

for a year's assignment in Europe as reporter and copy editor for the army newspaper Stars and Stripes, and was officially commended for her work on the dramatic Alpine plane crash-and-rescue story of November, 1946.

Joined Staff in '39

Mrs. Seitz joined The Freeman staff in 1939 as a switchboard operator in the business office. She was promoted to the position of society editor in June, 1941, when Miss Margaret Howe left to marry the Rev. G. Elliott Presby of Freedom Plains.

As society editor, Mrs. Seitz made many contacts with officers and leaders of the various clubs and organizations of the community. She extended herself to serve them well in publicizing the activities of their societies. That her efforts were appreciated is reflected in comments made to editorial workers by those whom she served.

Mrs. Seitz was considered as very accommodating in handling her job, going beyond the usual newspaper routine, in many cases, to help arrange programs and details requiring the touch of a person familiar with situations that are out of the ordinary for folk inexperienced in the line of public relations.

Brought Dr. Goldman

Aside from covering social functions, Mrs. Seitz served in the capacity of feature writer. She wrote about music in the schools, took care of special assignments, and took an interest in publicizing cultural projects. It was largely through her efforts that Dr. Edwin Franko Goldman, famous bandsman and composer, came to Kingston to address school pupils and their parents on music.

Mrs. Seitz, an accomplished pianist herself, has a fine library of classical compositions and is well versed on the masters and their works in the field of music.

She is a member of the Kingston Musical Society and the Community Concert Association, which she served as publicity chairman. As a member of the First Dutch Reformed Church, she has sung in the choir for a number of years, and also served as a Sunday school teacher.

Mrs. Seitz is a graduate of Kingston High School and the former Spencer's Business School. As a student she concentrated on a writing career and realized her ambition through The Freeman. Executives of the company gave consideration to her ability at the time of her promotion to society editor.

The Kingston Newspaper Guild elected her secretary for several successive terms. She was a charter member of the local unit which is affiliated with the American Newspaper Guild, an organization of editors, writers and people employed in the various newspapers throughout the country.

of its major problems which will be worked on in detail at later sessions.

Chairman MacAvery was authorized to purchase necessary supplies for the board. The other members present were Augustus S. Brinnier, John A. McCullough, James G. Connelly, and Arthur F. Hallinan.

Miss Marianne Davis Describes Audience With Pope Pius XII

Miss Marianne Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton J. Davis, of 53 Crown street was among other Americans who were granted an audience with Pope Pius XII on January 8. Miss Davis toured Rome while on leave from her duties as a civilian actress-technician with the U. S. Army occupation forces in Europe.

Following are excerpts from her letter to her family in which she described her visit to Vatican City and her audience with the Pope:

"We took the special tour bus to St. Peter's and Vatican City. St. Peter's, in the early morning mist, seemed literally to be floating in the distance as we approached.

"We parked, then walked past the Swiss Guards, in their orange and blue striped stockings, breeches and shirts, with the red side panels, the white cuffs, ruffs and gloves, the huge helmets—so Medieval. And when they saluted, their movement to switch the spear from the right to the left was so swift I couldn't catch it.

"Up the steps—9:15 a. m.—to the ground floor. Up three more flights, through the main courtyard of the Vatican, into the main building. We then took an elevator. Came out in the beautifully decorated Raphael Lodge. Used to be open balconies, now glass enclosed. We were ushered into an ante-room. Paintings of former Popes adorned the brocaded walls. Deep wine carpeting. Across the large audience room where audiences are held for 500 people, into a waiting room.

"There were heavy wooden chairs of beautiful paneling, set widely apart along each wall. A huge crucifix atop a table, a statue of two angels on another table, and near us a clock which ticked loudly atop another table. There were heavy white silk drapes before each window, trimmed in wine.

"When we came in there were three young priests, an older one, one apparent business man, sitting on one side of the room. Our party took the other seats—two nurses, one WAC sergeant, one captain, a lieutenant and wife, an Italian national, an Army chaplain.

"We all almost jumped when a man came in and motioned us single file through another room, then marched us completely around still another room into place. . . . We all took seats again. Several uniformed officers passed through, sword handles encrusted with gold. . . .

"People kept coming through our audience room by two's or three's, their audiences completed. Each one walked without speaking, a strange expression of happiness on each face even though they weren't smiling.

"We were almost ready, and the chaplain told me he would kiss the Pope's ring, but that I mustn't, since I'm a Protestant. I was second in line.

"Pope Pius XII was in the room almost before I was aware of it. He seemed to bring light with him. Just a rustling and the quiet that followed when his aide motioned everyone to kneel. . . . All in white, white cap, white robe.

"The chaplain knelt and kissed His ring, then the Pope asked him, 'American?' The chaplain, of course, speaks Italian, so they conversed in Italian. Then Pope Pius asked me, 'American?', held out his hand, but of course I couldn't kiss the ring. So I answered 'Yes.'

"'What state are you from?'

"'New York, Kingston, New York.'

"'You are working in Germany?'

"'In Nurnberg. I'm with the Army.'

"He then gave a Special Blessing to those dear to me, and gave me a medal. I said, 'Thank you, Holy Father,' bowed, and he spoke to the person next to me.

"It's a wonder I can remember anything clearly—his face, so small and lined and grey, with piercing, kind eyes and the steel-rimmed glasses. And a small voice, not loud, but so sweet, so tender. He means for me to tell you of His blessing, I'm sure, so I'm sending it to you.

"He spoke to each person in the room, specially; the Catholics knelt to kiss His ring, the priests' faces blushed and smiles lighted them when he came there. The older priest announced that the younger one is to go to Africa tomorrow as a missionary, and they held out their rosaries to be blessed. He spoke to the last person. Then gave the sign of the cross, gave a benediction, and we all fell to our knees, and the audience was over.

How can I describe the magnificence of the Pope. He looks tired . . . otherwise, his goodness and purity and saintliness completely filled the room. He moves in God's Grace and lives by God's Will. Surely none can long oppose a group presided over by such a man. To think that we had the opportunity to be close to Him, to speak with Him, to feel his Love, is really almost too remarkable to be expressed.

"I can but utter thanks to have been afforded such an opportunity. . . . If this experience means so much to me as a Protestant, I can imagine what it must mean to Catholics. To know that they have such a person as He as their head must be a comfort and a joy."

Tuttle Replaces Hornbeck in Tonight's Feature Scrap With Provizzi

Gloversville Ace Has Previously Won Five Local Bouts

One shift has been made in the B'nai B'rith boxing card for tonight, which means that Bob Provizzi will face the middleweight champion of the Adirondack A.A.U. in the main bout at municipal auditorium.

Dick Tuttle, the title-holder from Gloversville, has been procured to replace Bob Hornbeck of Highland, whose parents have refused to let him box on account of the accident that happened to his stablemate last week.

James Pitsley, 24-year-old Poughkeepsie amateur, suffered what a physician has described as a "brain laceration" in a three-round bout with Floyd Benjamin of East Kingston.

Hornbeck and Pitsley trained together at the Pioneer gym in the Bridge City, under the direction of Jimmy Dundee and Steve Polachek.

At the time he announced the switch in the card, Ben M. Becker, chairman of boxing for the Adirondack A.A.U., said that Dr. Louis Goldberg told him in a phone conversation that Pitsley is still on the critical list in St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Pitsley made a strong finish against Benjamin and hadn't complained up until the time he left the municipal auditorium, B'nai B'rith officials said.

The shift to Tuttle takes none of the attractiveness away from the Provizzi bout, according to Ben M. Becker, who regards the Gloversville boy as one of the best middleweights in the state.

In six bouts at the municipal auditorium, he has won five. The only amateur to defeat him here was Johnny Jones of the U. S. Marines. They boxed on January 26. Tuttle won decisions over Jack Monroe of Buffalo, Al Motson of Ottawa, Ernie Keith and Dick Byers. He knocked out Tommy Romane of Albany in the second round.

Tuttle is rated as a seasoned ringman and a good puncher.

Provizzi, who hails from Wilkes-Barre, scored two technical knockouts at the auditorium last fall when he boxed with Pat Roarty's team from the Quaker State, one over Dick Edwards of Ogdensburg and Tito White of Albany.

Two local favorites are billed on tonight's card, Libby Manzolillo, Jeffersonville lightweight, and Vince Salvati of Troy. These two action scrappers are matched with stablemates of Provizzi.

The four five rounders are:

Bob Provizzi, 160, Wilkes-Barre vs. Dick Tuttle of Gloversville.

Libby Manzolillo, 133 Jeffersonville vs. Carl Rommanelli, Scranton, Pa.

Vince Salvati, 135, Troy vs. Dom LaRosa, Wilkes-Barre.

There will be three preliminaries of three rounds each. The first is scheduled to start at 9 p. m.

Phoenicia's Late Spurt Nips Trinity, 27-25

Phoenicia defeated Trinity Lutheran of the Church Basketball League, 27-25, in an overtime game Tuesday night on the Phoenicia court. The locals led 12-9 at the half and 17-14 at the three quarter mark before a late spurt by Phoenicia tied the score, 23-23, at regulation time.

Wolff paced Trinity with 10 points, while Lee's seven topped the winners.

The score:

Trinity Lutheran (25)—Bickert f 5, R. Marks f, Schlanger f 8, Wolff c 10, Eckert g, Golinick g, W. Marks g 2.

Phoenicia (27)—Bush f 6, Kirk f 2, Curtis c 4, Clark c 2, Lee g 7, Staiger g, Clancy g 6.

Brooks Defeats Savatgy 125-104 In Billiard Match

Pete Savatgy, winner of two straight matches, made a serious challenge to knock off his third in a row Wednesday night in the city pocket billiard tournament but fell by the wayside to Davie Brooks, defending champ, who polished off a 125 to 104 victory. The match took two hours and 15 minutes.

Savatgy held various leads over Brooks throughout most of the battle by 37-17, 61-46, 78-57, and 83-66 but the veteran Brooks found an opening and shot out to a 101-89 lead which he never relinquished.

Brooks advanced to a 112-91 lead and 123-93 before going on to win by 125-104.

Brooks posted high runs of 15, 14 and 13 in the tournament's top match to date. Savatgy put together runs of 23 and 14.

The next tournament match is slated Friday night when Bob East tangles with Julius Tellier. Starting time for Friday's match is 7:30 p. m.

R. Burger and Kozlowski starred for the winners on offense with 15 and 11 points respectively. Bob Terwilliger, center, played an exceptional game at defense.

Sokoll and Maben sparked the losers with 14 and 12 markers respectively.

Probe Is Ordered After Walcott's Sudden K.O. Victory Over Johnson

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission called a hearing today in the sudden collapse of Harold Johnson during last night's fight with Jersey Joe Walcott.

The 22-year-old Philadelphia Negro heavyweight dropped to the canvas in the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder at the area—unable to continue because of a back injury.

Walcott, the Camden, N. J., Negro veteran who tried unsuccessfully three times to grab the world's heavyweight crown, was awarded a knockout victory.

John (Ox) Da Grosa, state athletic commissioner, said after examining Johnson in the ring and later at Presbyterian Hospital he was convinced "the boy was in too much pain to go on fighting."

"I am sure that there was nothing irregular in the fight," Da Grosa said, "but just to be on the safe side, I'll talk it over with all concerned today."

The purses of both fighters were held up pending results of the hearing.

Da Grosa said Walcott told him he believed Johnson twisted his back as he fell under a left hook in the second round.

When the bout came to its dramatic close, Johnson was battling the man who almost took the heavyweight title from Joe Louis in 1947 on very even terms. The 180-pound local puncher won the first round and lost the second when Walcott—17 pounds heavier—dropped him for a count of three.

Give and Take

It was give and take in the early moments of the third round when like a bolt out of the blue, Johnson stopped short, and sank to the canvas. His face was a mask of pain as he rolled over and over.

Referee Dave Beloff waved Walcott to a neutral corner and counted out the striken Johnson. The crowd of 7,500—they paid $32,519—came to its collective feet buzzing with curious excitement.

Dr. Joseph I. Levy examined the prostrate fighter and announced it looked like an injury to the vertebral disc located in the small of the back. He had Johnson removed to Presbyterian Hospital where X-rays were taken.

In a bout that had more angles than international policies the actual ending supplied a beauty.

Walcott won this fight in the very same round he kayoed Johnson's father, Phil Johnson, 14 years ago. It was in 1936 that Jersey Joe belted the elder Johnson into submission in round three.

The bout ended, at least temporarily, Johnson's ambition for a shot at Lightweight Champion Joey Maxim. It was only the second defeat in 30 fights for the youngster.

Walcott, now is preparing for an exhibition tour in the Caribbean followed by a fight with Hein Ten Hoff, German champion, in Stuttgart, still has has to prove his mastery over Johnson.

Certainly even Jersey Joe, a fine sport as well as a great fighter, won't consider last night's victory a very satisfying one.

Additionally, the unexpected ending postpones for some time the answer to whether Walcott still has enough punch and strength left to warrant him a fourth shot at the heavyweight crown now worn National Boxing Association style by Ezzard Charles.

Anderson Signs New Holy Cross Contract

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 9 (AP)—His presence obviously perking up his associates, Dr. Eddie Anderson started back to Iowa for a temporary visit today after formally signing a five-year pact to coach Holy Cross football once again.

The genial Anderson, virtually as trim as when he left here after the 1938 season, told old friends:

"It's great to be back here. I hope I can do something to help this Holy Cross football picture."

If he can approximate the record of only seven losses in seven years, which his teams established here, the Crusaders again will be high in the saddle after a miserable 1949 season in which they failed to win a game.

Jockeys In Doubt

Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 9 (AP)—The burning question around the race track today was whether Steve Brooks or Eddie Arcaro will ride Citation in the $50,000 San Antonio handicap at Santa Anita on Saturday. Last report from Trainer Jimmy Jones was that he hadn't decided which jockey will get the call for Big C. in the mile and one-eighth stake, first major step in Citation's comeback.

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—The Bauer sisters Alice and Marlene from Midland, Texas, continued to pace the field in the 40th annual Palm Beach Women's Golf Championship today. The Bauer girls, who led qualifiers Tuesday with par 72s over the Palm Beach Golf Club course, won their first round matches yesterday by convincing margins.

St. Peter's Blasts 1070-2960 For New Class B Tenpin Marks

Featured At Grand Opening

One of the greatest woman bowlers of all time—Catherine Fellmeth of Chicago—will be one of the featured stars at the formal opening of the Bowlatorium on Monday, Feb. 13.

Winner of the W.I.B.C. all-events championship in 1946, Catherine is probably the most spectacular of any feminine star, having a very high backswing and a flashing delivery which sends the ball hooking into the pins with devastating force.

Recently crowned as Chicago city all-events champion, Catherine will be remembered by sports fans as one of the finest girl athletes in history.

In her first year of bowling, she managed to tally a 279 and in no time at all was selected as a member of an outstanding team. In 1937, she led the Riddell Athletic Shoes to the city championship and in 1942 she was leadoff for the famous Logan Square Buicks which won the world's championship twice.

At Kansas City in 1946, Catherine, now a member of the Tavern Pale team of Chicago, began her scoring with a modest 575 in the team event. Then she climbed to 601 in her doubles effort, and climaxed her shooting with a brilliant 659 in the singles, based on games of 202, 233 and 224, to win the all-events with an 1835 total, an average of 204 over the nine-game route.

Miss Fellmeth will share bowling spotlight with Joe Falcaro, world's undefeated match game champion; and the Buddy Lee Clothes five of New York, the world's greatest left-handed bowling team.

St. Peter's No. 2 squad of the Catholic Youth Organization bowling circuit highlighted Wednesday night's action in the 14th annual city tournament at the Bowlodrome by pulverizing the pot-bellied maples for a resounding 1070 team single and 2960 team series for new records in the Class B competition.

Previous high triple in the Class B division was held by Frank's Sport Shop with 2782.

Led by Nick Bruck's sizzling 593 series, the Saints polished off games of 1009-811-957 for a 2777 series without handicap. With handicap of 61 pins a game the Saints enjoyed 1070-872-1018-2960.

Bruck, who has been hitting the maples this year as though he owned all of them in the city, cracked 234 in his opener and followed with 157 and 202.

The rest of the club all chipped in with neat scores as Johnny Zeoh fired 230-577; G. Kearney 227-555; G. Smith 527 and Ray Zeeh 525.

There were no other changes in the top teams of the Class A and Class B divisions during the third night of firing in the annual tenpin tournament. Jasper's Restaurant, defending champs, hold top ranking in Class A with 2900 while Herzog's paco the Class C divison with a 2560 team series.

Evans Is Hot

Bud Evans, the bespectacled trundler who knows his way around in bowling circles, vaulted into top position in the Class A singles and triples standings by powering 242 and 641 respectively. Previous highs in this division were held by George "Curly" Flemings with 234 and 602 respectively.

Mitzie Arlensky took over the Class B leadership in the singles division with his 236 blast. Nick Bruck holds the leadership in the series department on the strength of his 593.

Holdover leaders in the Class C competition were Cleon Robinson with his 208 single and Al Cross with a 523 triple.

Other Highlights

Other highlights of last night's trundling at the Cornell street lanes included the following:

G. Svirsky, 212-565; O. Schaller, 233-540; J. Bartsch, 200-527; M. Arlensky, 236-570; B. Evans, 242-209-641; J. Kwasney, 201-204-568; J. Zeeh, 230-577; G. Kearney, 227-555; N. Bruck, 234-202-593; B. Sickler, 201-527.

Following is the only change in leading teams according to class competition for first place:

Wicks to Award Trophies at Belleayre Championship Ski Events on Feb. 19

Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, who was largely responsible for obtaining the necessary legislation to create and construct the new Belleayre Mt. ski center in the Catskills, has been invited to present the trophies for the New York State Downhill and Combined Downhill-Slalom championships scheduled for Sunday, February 19, on the Tongora Trail. He was unable to attend the opening ceremonies of the chairlift development on January 21.

The meet is sanctioned by the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association and is open to its members who hold an A, B or C classification. The downhill race will start promptly at 9:30 a. m. With the recent heavy snowfall covering the slopes of Belleayre, excellent conditions are virtually assured now for the championships.

According to Gordon Kent, president of the Belleayre Mt. Ski Club which is sponsoring the meet, every effort is being made to run off the championships smoothly and efficiently. This is the first meet of any kind the club has tackled.

Kent announced that competitors should send their applications, accompanied by an entrance fee of $1.50, to John E. Fuller, Race Committee chairman, Fleischmanns. He also announced that, through cooperation with the Belleayre Mt. Ski center, Joe Cushing, ski school director, will be available to rate skiers desiring to obtain their C classifications.

Among the large number of officials necessary to conduct the meet are the following: John F. Fuller, chief of course; James McMann, timer; Wally Keller, patrol chief; Joseph Fuhringer, starter; Robert Ford, assistant starter; Dr. William Cohn, recorder; Leyden Smith, announcer; Gordon Kent, communications chief; Peter Fagone, lab snatcher; Joe Cushing, course setter; Howard T. Birdsall, Ralph Dalton, Francis Davenport, Maurice Davenport, George Bedell, William Baker, Steve Enderlin, Roswell Sanford, gatekeepers and special attaches.

Trophies for the championships will be on display in Margaretville and Pine Hill prior to the match. Recently they have been displayed in Fleischmanns. Spectators at the meet are requested in the interests of safety not to walk on the slopes and trails without either skis or snowshoes.

The ancient Romans made ice by digging snow from mountainsides and packing it in deep pits covered with straw and tree prunings.

Roustabout Goes Wild With Knife

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—A tall, dark and handsome longshoreman went berserk with a knife in the Times Square area today, frightening scores of persons but hurting none.

This, said police, is what happened after the man who variously gave the names of John Maione and Russo, boarded a southbound Broadway bus at 44th street.

He flashed a knife and turned the driver and a score of passengers out into the rain.

Leaping into the driver's seat, he drove the bus south on Seventh avenue to 42nd street and maneuvered the big vehicle through 42nd street traffic west to Ninth avenue. There he jumped out of the bus, leaving its motor running.

Two policemen, who knew nothing about the bus incident, saw him acting suspiciously on Eighth avenue. When they accosted him, he started to run, shouting he'd kill the policemen and himself, too.

The police pounded after him. One drew a gun and shouted he'd shoot.

The chase led near a crowd emerging from the 42nd street station of the Independent Subway. People scattered.

As they seized the man, his kitchen knife clattered to the ground.

The police led him to the 47th street police station for questioning where the bus driver, James Mannion, was reporting the bus theft.

Mannion turned and glimpsed the man—six feet two and 200 pounds, with handsome features and black, curly hair.

"Why, that's the man," cried Mannion.

No charges were placed against him immediately.

Will Make Pictures

Philadelphia, Feb 9 (AP)—Colleen Townsend, 21-year-old actress who recently announced she was going "to follow the leading of God," says movie making will still play a major role in her life. The beautiful Hollywood starlet told a reporter yesterday that her $1,000-a-week contract with Twentieth Century-Fox expires February 17 and that after that "I'm free to do the bidding of the Lord." Early in March, she said, she will begin work on a picture on intolerance for the Protestant Film Commission. Several pictures for the church will follow before she enters a school of theology in September.

No Date for Wedding

Calcutta, India, Feb. 9 (AP)—"Gorgeous Gussie" Moran's engagement to 28-year-old Britisher Tony Davenport is still on, but no date for the wedding has been set. The 26-year-old California tennis star issued a joint statement today with her Oxford-educated businessman fiance to clear up the confusion over the engagement, which was announced last month and then hurriedly suspended. "For the record, finally, the statement said, "we are still engaged, but no date for the marriage has been settled yet due to senior Davenport's advice to wait on Gussie's tennis tour."

Sandy Creek Mason Is Grand High Priest

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—A. Elmo Cole of Sandy Creek is the new grand high priest of the Royal Arch Masons, Grand Chapter of the State of New York.

Cole, who succeeds Charles Sampson of Jackson Heights, was elected yesterday at the closing session of the 153rd convocation.

Other officers:

Robert L. Donovan, Rye, deputy grand high priest; Edward M. Henderson, Catskill, grand king; Robert D. Howard, New York city, grand scribe; Henry C. Thorne, Ithaca, captain of the host; Lawrence Atherton, Poughkeepsie, principal sojourner.

Jasper I. Brigham, Clayton, royal arch captain; Randall Kreiger, New York city, grand master of the third veil; Ralph Tompkins, Wellsville, grand master of the second veil, and A. N. Nielson, Queens, grand master of the first veil.

Ingrid Takes Walk In Grounds Near Her Swank Suite

Rome, Feb. 9 (AP)—Ingrid Bergman left her hospital bed briefly today for the first time since her son was born last Thursday.

The attending physician, Dr. Pier Luigi Guidotti, said the Swedish film star was able to walk around her suite in swank Villa Margherita Clinic. He also reported her week old baby was "progressing normally." He said there was no cause for concern about the infant's health.

During the morning, Renzo Rossellini, brother of Movie Producer and Director Roberto Rossellini, who is to marry Miss Bergman, said her Jaurez, Mexico divorce from Dr. Peter Lindstrom of Hollywood was expected "within a matter of hours."

Renzo Rossellini added that Miss Bergman and his brother were hopeful that the divorce decree would be granted before the expiration of the 10-day period for the civil registration of the baby's birth. The 10 days expires Sunday allowing the registration to be made on Monday, he added.

The marriage plans of the couple have not been announced.

Meanwhile one of Rome's leading Catholic newspapers rapped Americans who have advocated banning Miss Bergman's latest movie, "Stromboli," because of her tangled romance with Rossellini.

"Let he among you who is without sin cast the first stone," declared Il Populo, official organ of Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian Democratic (Catholic) party.

Rosendale Home Damaged by Smoke

A fire which broke out about 8 p. m. Wednesday destroyed the furnishings in one room and caused considerable smoke damage throughout a house owned by Mrs. Frank Aliota on James street in Rosendale.

No one was at home at the time. A pet dog suffocated during the fire. Firemen were not aware of the dog's presence until they found his lifeless body in the bathroom after the fire had been extinguished.

Firemen said the fire apparently started from an overheated smoke pipe which set fire to wood in the walls and broke out into the room. The fire was confined to the room, but smoke was so dense that firement were forced to wear smoke masks.

Volunteer firemen from Rosendale and Binnewater worked for two hours with hose streams and booster lines before the fire was declared out. The two companies have an agreement under which both respond to any house fire in either district.

The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Farrell and by Robert Sutton. According to one report, Sutton, in whose apartment the fire occurred, had moved some of his belongings into a house he had built next door, but his other furnishings were destroyed.

Travel Hampered By Slippery Going On Area Highways

Wednesday's cold spell achieved a mellowing point by midnight and was followed early this morning by snow and rain which hampered travel in the area.

The mercury at 10 degrees above at 12:30 a. m., began rising gradually through the morning until it was at 40 degrees by noon today.

An estimated inch and a half of snow fell in the city and vicinity and traffic was tied up on the Wurts street hill and Rondout creek bridge shortly after the storm started.

A police report at 2:50 a. m. said all lights were out on the Rondout Creek bridge and at 5:25 a. m. came the report that a truck was stuck on the bridge and was abandoned by its driver.

Officers George Bowers and Joseph Fallon found the driver there when they arrived and a sanding crew arrived to cover slippery spots on the route. It was reported at the time that several tractor-trailers were stuck on the Wurts street hill.

Another report at 5:15 a. m. said traffic was held up on the Port Ewen side in the rock cut and the state highway department was notified. At 5:25 a. m. traffic was again tied up on Wurts street, and sanding crews, which had been on the job since about 4 a. m., were called to the location again.

Allentown Man Hurt in Accident

Carl K. Ginner, 50, of Allentown, Pa., was injured about 12:30 p. m. Wednesday when the automobile he was driving crashed into the rear of a parked vehicle on Route 209 at the city line, the sheriff's department reported.

Ginner suffered deep cuts on his forehead and right leg, Deputy Sheriff Arthur B. Smith said. He was taken to the Benedictine Hospital, where his condition was reported today as "fair."

Deputy Sheriff Smith said Ginner, who was driving an automobile owned by a friend, Herman Pulcher of R. D. 1, Hudson, struck the rear of a suburban car owned by Hercules Powder Company of Port Ewen. Leonard Burnett, 58, of St. Remy, driver of the suburban, told the deputy that he had parked his vehicle partly off the highway while he got out to check the vehicle.

Smith said the entire front end of the automobile driven by Ginner was crushed and its steering wheel broken. The Hercules vehicle received considerable damage to its rear end and fenders, he added. Burnett, who was standing a short distance away from his vehicle at the time, was not reported injured.

Uncertain as to jurisdiction, both city police and the deputy sheriff responded to the call. Smith said the Hercules suburban was parked just outside the Kingston city line and when it was struck by the other vehicle, which was traveling toward Kingston, the force of the impact drove it into the city. The automobile driven by Ginner just grazed a sign marking the city limits, he said. The final report on the accident was filed by Deputy Sheriff Smith, while a W. N. Conner ambulance was ordered for Ginner by Sgt. Robert Murphy of the city police.

Ginner told Smith he "blanked out" just before the accident, and that he had suffered a stroke about a year ago, Smith reported. No arrests were made.

All early matches had to be struck against phosphorus, a deadly poison.

Some 7,000 plant diseases cause enough damage to be considered economically important.
